Crawling Arnold Jules Feiffer, 1963 THE STORY Barry and Grace Enterprise a couple in their seventies have two sons one a thriving two year old and the other Arnold a young man in his thirties who crawls on all fours insists on a lemon peel in his martini and is forever misplacing his coloring book The Enterprises also have a lavish air raid shelter complete with a library of old Our Gang movies and four years worth of Readers Digest back copies plus a rather snippy black maid whose feelings have been ruffled by their offer of a separate but equal shelter for her As for Arnold the Enterprises concern about him has led to a consultation with Miss Sympathy a pert young psychiatric social worker who comes by to do what she can to help straighten him out and up She and Arnold are hitting it off rather well when the alert sounds for an air raid drill and it s down to the shelter for everyone except that Millie the maid has already locked herself in and the white imperialists out So Miss Sympathy joins Arnold on the floor an accepted crisis position and their increasingly intimate confessions continue to an off stage obligato by the senior Enterprises Arnold admits that he has rediscovered the forgotten value of being naughty and Miss Sympathy concedes that she finds him overpoweringly attractive but what if the all clear should sound But it won t It s broken That s what Arnold did that was naughty today Crawling Arnold Stratford Festival Collection, Leo Ciceri, Joseph Shaw, Brian Petchey, Christopher Fry, Megan Terry, Jules Feiffer, 1967 Crawling Arnold Jules Feiffer, 2005 One Nation Underground Kenneth D. Congress, 1962 Writers Directory NA NA, 2016-03-05 When Television was Young Paul Rutherford, 1990-01-01 A decade after the first Canadian telecasts in September 1952 TV had conquered the country Why was the little screen so enthusiastically welcomed by Canadians Was television in its early years more innovative less commercial and more Canadian than current offerings In this study of what is often called the golden age of television Paul Rutherford has set out to dispel some cherished myths and to resurrect the memory of a noble experiment in the making of Canadian culture He focuses on three key aspects of the story The first is the development of the national service including the critical acclaim won by Radio Canada the struggles of the CBC's English service to provide mass entertainment that could compete with the Hollywood product and the effective challenge of private television to the whole dream of public broadcasting The second deals with the wealth of made in Canada programming available to please and inform viewers even commercials receive close attention Altogether Rutherford argues Canadian programming reflected as well as enhanced the prevailing values and assumptions of the mainstream The final focus is on McLuhan's Question What happens to society when a new medium of communications enters the picture Rutherford's findings cast doubt upon the common presumptions about the awesome power of television Television in Canada Rutherford concludes amounts to a failed revolution It never realized the ambitions of its masters or the fears of its critics Its course was shaped not only by the will of the government the power of commerce and the empire of Hollywood but also by the desires and habits of the viewers
