The Golden Gang Ian W. Shaw, 2024-08-14 The first comprehensive biography of the godfather of Australian bushranging Frank Gardiner leader of the Lachlan gang and mastermind of the largest gold heist in Australian history Atop the hierarchy of Australian bushrangers sits Ned Kelly the ultimate outlaw and just below him the tragic figure of Ben Hall who joined a gang led by a man whose name today is less well known but in his time was much more famous than any other Frank Gardiner Mastermind of the largest gold robbery in Australia s history Gardiner led an extraordinary life the full telling of which is long overdue In a tough country and among a group of tough men Gardiner was the toughest of them all But while he engaged in gunfights with police to evade capture he was always courteous and could lay claim to never killing anyone and never stole from those who couldn't afford to be robbed. He went by three different surnames in his lifetime and spent almost half of it behind bars including at some of the colonies' most notorious penal institutions: the Pentridge Stockade, Cockatoo Island and Darlinghurst Gaol. But if Gardiner was never quite the Robin Hood he sometimes imagined himself to be, he was nevertheless a natural leader and a man capable of inspiring a motley bunch of stockmen and drifters to become the most effective and successful bushranging gang in the country's history. His Lachlan gang operated with a clockwork efficiency that culminated in the robbery of the Gold Escort at Eugowra Rocks and from 1861 to 1863 it held reign over the roads of the Western Plains of New South Wales. Richly detailed, The Golden Gang shines a new light onto Gardiner's remarkable life, one that ended in shocking tragedy and reinstates him in the pantheon of Australian outlaw heroes.

Wilderness Protection in Polar Regions Antje Neumann, 2020-04-14 Antarctica's wilderness values, even though specifically recognized by the Environmental Protocol to the Antarctic Treaty, are rarely considered in practice. This deficiency is especially apparent with regard to a more and more increasing human footprint caused among others by a growing number of tourists visiting the region and conducting a broad variety of activities. On the basis of a detailed study of three Arctic wilderness areas: the Hammastunturi Wilderness Reserve, Finland; the Archipelago of Svalbard, Norway; and the Denali National Park and Preserve, Alaska, United States, as well as the relevant policies and legislation in these countries, Antje Neumann identifies numerous lessons learnt that can serve as suggestions for improving the protection of wilderness in Antarctica.

The Metallurgy of Silver, Gold, and Mercury in the United States: Gold and mercury Thomas Egleston, 1890

They Must Be Represented Paula Rabinowitz, 1994-12-17 They Must Be Represented examines documentary in print, photography, television, and film from the 1930s through the 1980s using the lens of recent feminist film theory as well as scholarship on race, class, and gender emerging from the new interdisciplinary approach of American cultural studies. Paula Rabinowitz discusses the ways in which these four media shaped truth claims and political agency over the decades: in the 1930s about poverty, labor, and popular culture during the depression; in the 1960s about the Vietnam War, racism, work, and counterculture; and in the 1980s about feminist and gay critiques of gender history, narrative, and cinema. A great deal of documentary expression has been influenced by developments in cultural anthropology as committed artists brought their cameras and typewriters into the field, not only to report but also to change the world. Yet recently the projects of both anthropology and documentary have come under scrutiny. Rabinowitz argues that the gendering of vision that occurs when narratives conform to conventional genres profoundly affects the relation of documentarian to subject. She goes on to define this gendering of vision in documentary as an ethnographic process. Ultimately, this polemical study challenges the construction of the spectator in psychoanalytic film theory and articulates a new model for theorizing power relations in culture and history.

Lee Marvin Robert J. Lentz, 2015-09-15 Lee Marvin did not receive his first starring film role until he
