Drowning by Accident

Elizabeth Meinhard, 2022-02-15 Drowning By Accident explains why it is so easy to drown where accidents happen and how to save lives by early rescue and resuscitation More than 600 people die by drowning in Britain every year Swimming is promoted as a particularly safe form of exercise so that swimmers forget or ignore the dangers of frigid lakes swollen rivers incoming tides or outgoing rip currents Drowning accidents take place because we don't recognise water as a hostile environment We overestimate the strength and endurance of our bodies and underestimate the power and deceptiveness of water Year after year victims lose their lives in typical drowning accidents often sinking so quickly and silently that nearby family friends and onlookers fail to notice the tragedy taking place close beside them Babies drown in baths Toddlers drown in garden ponds School children fall off rafts Teenagers strike too far from the shore Pensioners wade into rivers to save their dogs Victims often die within minutes of sinking beneath the surface A quarter of those who reach hospital alive will also die while others survive with severe permanent brain damage This means that it is vitally important for parents grandparents teachers lifeguards and lawmakers to recognise the risks and prevent drowning accidents before they take place

Global status report on drowning prevention 2024 World Health Organization, 2025-06-12 The Global status report on drowning prevention details the scale of global drowning fatalities and progress made in advancing strategies and actions to reduce drowning around the world The report presents a benchmark against which to track drowning prevention progress over time at global regional and national levels and to galvanize meaningful multisectoral collaboration within governments organizations societies and across the United Nations On Scene, 2003 The Comprehensive Guide to Wilderness First Aid Clifton Castleman, WEMT, 2011-12-01 Basic and in depth information on the recognition treatment and management of common injuries and illness that may occur in the wilderness Kant on Maxims and Moral Motivation Peter Herissone-Kelly,2019-01-17 This book outlines and circumvents two serious problems that appear to attach to Kant's moral philosophy or more precisely to the model of rational agency that underlies that moral philosophy the problem of experiential incongruence and the problem of misdirected moral attention The book's central contention is that both these problems can be sidestepped In order to demonstrate this it argues for an entirely novel reading of Kant's views on action and moral motivation In addressing the two main problems in Kant's moral philosophy the book explains how the first problem arises because the central elements of Kant's theory of action seem not to square with our lived experience of agency and moral agency in particular For example the idea that moral deliberation invariably takes the form of testing personal policies against the Categorical Imperative seems at odds with the phenomenology of such reasoning as does the claim that all our actions proceed from explicitly adopted general policies or maxims It then goes on to discuss the second problem showing how it is a result of Kant's apparent claim that when an agent acts from duty her reason for doing so is that her maxim is lawlike This seems to put the moral agent's attention in the wrong place on the nature of her own maxims rather than on the world of other people and morally salient situations The book shows how its proposed novel reading of Kant's views ultimately paints an unfamiliar but appealing picture of the Kantian good-willed agent as much more embedded in and engaged with the world than has traditionally been supposed Seeing Things Alice McIntyre,2011-11-08 In an effort to address her obsession with worrying about people ten-year-old Trina decides to invent an object she calls the Thing Whenever Trina starts becoming overly concerned about someone she opens the top of her magical box peeks inside and hopes that everything she sees will make her feel all right But one night everything is not all right While looking in the Thing Trina sees her older sister involved in a deadly car crash Suddenly Trina is left trying to make sense of events that are difficult for her to understand her sister's death her alcoholic father her overworked mother and her relationship with a God that would let bad things happen to good people The tragedy that befalls her family teaches Trina how to survive disappointment and loss with humor love and a belief in second chances The Grim Reaper's Road Map Mary Shaw,2008 An atlas of mortality in Britain based on data from 1981 to 2004 this new study explores causes of death across the UK including a description of the cause of death a map and cartogram showing the spatial distribution of that cause a commentary on the pattern observed and the reason for it Congressional Record United States.
