Faith Based Rehabilitation Vs. Secular Rehabilitation

In a study conducted on New York prisoners who had taken part in a faith based rehabilitation program it was found that

Only 14% of those who took part in the faith based program were rearrested within a year of being released from prison.

Contrastingly, it was found that as many as 41% of those who did not take part in the program were rearrested within a year of being released.

In another similar study conducted on Texas state prisoners, it was found that only 5% of the 80 prisoners who had taken part in the faith based rehabilitation program were rearrested within a year of release.

A study conducted by an independent research group into the effectiveness of faith based rehabilitation program, Teen Challenge, found that out of 154 residents who had graduated out of the program between 2007 and 2009:

74% of adult program graduates reported no use in the previous six months

77% were either working 30+ hours a week or were a full-time student

58% had attended school since graduating
