History Education in Lebanon and the Borders of the Nation Bouchra Saab,2025-09-01 This study shows that widely used history textbooks in Lebanon are more standardized and censored than in most liberal democratic countries and relatively similar in form and content to textbooks from Syria and Iraq A diversity of historical narratives has progressively converged into one dominant narrative which entails a standard definition of the self In contrast the other is defined through the exclusion of religious groups considered exogenous and ethnicities considered inferior In addition women are marginalized Surprisingly the textbooks affiliated with Hezbollah a Shiite militia financed by the Iranian regime depart to a certain extent from this definition While most previous research on Lebanese history textbooks has focused on the diverging narratives of religious communities this study views these textbooks as the outcome of a tension between two major forces educational traditions on the one hand and contemporary politics on the other The Progress of This Storm Andreas Malm, 2020-02-04 An attack on the idea that nature and society are impossible to distinguish from each other In a world careening towards climate chaos nature is dead It can no longer be separated from society Everything is a blur of hybrids where humans possess no exceptional agency to set them apart from dead matter But is it really so In this blistering polemic and theoretical manifesto Andreas Malm develops a counterargument in a warming world nature comes roaring back and it is more important than ever to distinguish between the natural and the social Only with a unique agency attributed to humans can resistance become conceivable
