Applied Design Thinking for Problem Solving Kumandari Ranga Chari,2024-09-03 Applied Design Thinking for Problem Solving is a ground breaking book that aims to redefine the concept of value in the industry With over five decades of experience in the field of Value Analysis and Value Engineering the author offers unique insights into how organizations can maximize their profits and create products and services that truly resonate with customers In this book the author delves into the misconceptions surrounding the term value and sets out to clarify its true meaning Drawing from his extensive experience working with industrial and service organizations in India and abroad the author explores the relationship between cost price and the worth of a product or service He highlights the importance of design thinking in determining whether a product or service is worth the price a customer is willing to pay Through examples and case studies the author demonstrates how customers make decisions based on the worth and cost of a product He explains how features such as functionality performance quality and appeal influence a customer's perception of value. Additionally, the author introduces the concept of Value Engineering, a systematic approach to maximizing value and how it can be integrated into organizational processes. The book also traces the evolution of Value Analysis and Value Engineering, shedding light on their emergence in the post-war period and their growing popularity in the Indian industry over the past five decades. With his vast experience working with various organizations across different sectors, the author shares valuable insights into the applications of these techniques in materials, processes, labor, equipment, energy, and systems. Moreover, the author addresses the need for clear demarcation between Design Thinking and Value Engineering, aiming to reduce subjectivity and enhance objectivity in their application. He emphasizes the importance of interdisciplinary collaboration and involvement of diverse stakeholders in the development and implementation of new concepts.

Crime and Corruption in Organizations Edward C. Tomlinson, Prof. Sir Cary L. Cooper CBE, Professor Ronald J. Burke, 2012-08-28. Although increasing attention has been paid to it, there are no signs that crime and corruption in organizations is decreasing, so if you're a manager or government policy maker and your mandate is to reduce crime and corruption, where do you start? The international authors of this book fill a critical need to address such a prevalent and costly topic with a detailed analysis of the risks associated with crime and corruption in organizations. They examine the causes and consequences and the choices we face in our efforts to eradicate these social maladies. They focus on the risks to individuals and organizations surrounding criminal and corrupt acts, with an emphasis on the psychological, behavioral, and organizational factors supporting such behaviors. Finally, they explore the phenomenon of crime and corruption across a diverse array of organizational settings, ranging from public to private, for-profit to non-profit, and occupational categories, e.g., police officers, physicians, accountants, and academicians. The constant barrage of scandals publicized by the media demands front-burner attention dedicated to stemming this tide. Accordingly, this book turns to prominent researchers employing their talents to produce more ethical organizations The result is the most up to date thinking on both classic e g cognitive moral development and novel e g moral attentiveness approaches to crime and corruption as well as scientifically grounded approaches to reducing illicit behavior in organizations      The Transition to Late Antiquity on the lower Danube Andrew Poulter,2019-09-30 Excavations on the site of this remarkable fort in northern Bulgaria 1996 2005 formed part of a long term program of excavation and intensive field survey aimed at tracing the economic as well as physical changes which mark the transition from the Roman Empire to the Middle Ages a program that commenced with the excavation and full publication of the early Byzantine fortress city of Nicopolis ad Istrum The analysis of well dated finds and their full publication provides a unique database for the late Roman period in the Balkans they include metal work pottery local and imported fine ware glass copper alloy finds inscriptions and dipinti on amphorae as well as quantified environmental reports on animal birds and fish with specialist reports on the archaeobotanical material glass analysis and querns The report also details the results of site specific intensive survey a new method developed for use in the rich farmland of the central Balkans In addition there is a detailed report on a most remarkable and well preserved aqueduct which employed the largest siphon ever discovered in the Roman Empire This publication will provide a substantial database of material and environmental finds an invaluable resource for the region and for the Roman Empire material invaluable for studies which seeks to place the late Roman urban and military identity within its regional and extra regional economic setting      Electronic Fetal Heart Rate Monitoring Parer,Tekoa L.
