Reflective Learning in Practice Anne Brockbank,Ian McGill,2017-07-05 This book gathers together details of seventeen case studies of learning in practice after having set the issue of reflective learning in a theoretical context The cases are drawn from a wide range of situations and discuss both apparent successes and failures The cases are used as a basis to develop general findings These general findings are expressed as themes and questions so that as readers come across new circumstances they are not limited by prescriptive recipes Instead they are empowered by having both an open and focused approach open because the starting point is questions rather than answers and focused because the questions direct attention to factors that have been found to be influential for effective reflective learning The crucial factor is the ability of managers and others to extract quality learning from experience Reflective Learning in Practice develops an approach that will help this to happen Ways of Learning Alan Pritchard,2008-10-29 Teachers are very good at providing excellent opportunities for children s learning to progress Often without fully understanding the reasons why teachers encourage learning in their charges which works very well and is a very good approach at a particular time with a particular child or group of children With greater insight into what is currently known about the processes of learning and about individual learning preferences teachers are able to provide even better learning situations which are even more likely to lead to effective learning This book seeks to provide the detail which teachers can make use of in their planning and teaching in order to provide even better opportunities for effective and lasting learning The first edition of this book has been used widely and has now been revised to include updated information in the existing chapters as well as a new chapter which covers the area of learning difficulties and special educational needs Jesus - A Master Teacher Roy Pitcher,2013-12-02
