

CA Test Series Audit Practice Questions

Q-1 "The independent audit of an entity's financial statements is a vital service to investors, trade payables, and other participants in economic exchange." Explain

Ans- Auditing along with other disciplines such as accounting and law, equips you with all the knowledge that is required to enter into auditing as a profession. No business or institution can effectively carry on its activities without the help of proper records and accounts, since transactions take place at different points of time with numerous persons and entities. The effect of all transactions has to be recorded and suitably analysed to see the results as regards the business as a whole. Periodical statements of account are drawn up to measure the success or failure of the activities in achieving the objective of the organisation.

This would be impossible without a systematic record of transactions. Financial statements are often the basis for decision making by the management and for corrective action so as to even closing down the organisation or a part of it. All this would be possible only if the statements are reliable; decisions based on wrong accounting statements may prove very harmful or even
