Varriale,2009-08-18 The Italian aces of World War 1 have gone down in history as the irrefutable masters of the skies in the battle against their Austro Hungarian enemies In this often forgotten theater of warfare these remarkable pilots gave the Italian forces an undisputed air superiority and left an enduring legacy as extraordinary men Having interviewed the descendants of almost every Italian ace from the Great War Paolo Varriale uncovers these fighters incredible and sometimes tragic histories Years of painstaking research has culminated in this truly groundbreaking study which brings to life the exploits of such famous aces as Baracca Ruffo and Piccio and the lesser known Riva Sabelli and Nardini Letters diaries and unpublished photographs shed light on previously unknown personal and unit insignia exposing many myths and making this a commanding addition to the aviation history of World War 1 Albatros D.III James F. Miller,2014-03-20 In 1916

German aerial domination once held sway by rotary engined Fokker and Pfalz E type wing warping monoplanes had been lost to the more nimble French Nieuports and British DH 2s which not only out flew the German fighters but were present in greater numbers Born from experience calls from German fighter pilots requested that rather than compete with the maneuverability of these adversaries new single engine machines should be equipped with higher horsepower engines and armed with two rather than the then standard single machine gun The Robert Thelen led Albatros design bureau set to work on what became the Albatros D I and D II and by April 1916 they had developed a sleek yet rugged machine that featured the usual Albatros semi monocoque wooden construction and employed a 160hp Mercedes D III engine with power enough to equip the aeroplane with two forward firing machine guns In all 500 D IIIs and 840 D III OAW s were produced and saw heavy service throughout 1917 AK INTERACTIVE CATALOGUE , AK Interactive Catalogue is born a special publication glimpses from their military careers to help create this tribute to Americas patriotic and heroic fliers IN THEIR OWN WORDS THE FINAL CHAPTER TRUE STORIES FROM AMERICAN FIGHTER ACES illuminates what it took to fly and survive in hostile enemy skies and to test our new and unforgiving fighter aircraft When I first began compiling information interviewing and corresponding with our legendary fighter pilots there were about 600 of the original 1 473 fighter aces still with us It is now 2011 and only 10% of our American fighter aces are still living I and other military aviation enthusiasts are indeed fortunate that this book will again honor and tell the first person accounts of nearly 50% of these remarkable remaining fighter pilots The goal of this book is to write the final chapter to this stunning legacy A great deal of our nations rich military heritage is about to become extinct In a very few years all our ace fighter pilots will be gone The fact that our country is still free and speaking English instead of Japanese or German bears witness to their extraordinary deeds and courage

American Aces of World War 1 Norman Franks, 2001-09-25 American fliers arriving in Europe from September 1917 brought with them no aircraft Instead US units had to obtain machines mainly from the British and French From early 1918 American pilots were issued with SPAD fighters and they never looked back As this volume details the first American trained pilot to become an ace was Lt Douglas Campbell who shot down five German aircraft by the end of May 1918 He was a member of the celebrated 94th Hat in the Ring Aero Squadron which created the bulk of American aces in World War I
