Masters of Craft Richard E. Ocejio, 2017-04-24 How educated and culturally savvy young people are transforming traditionally low status manual labor jobs into elite taste making occupations In today's new economy in which good jobs are typically knowledge or technology based many well educated and culturally savvy young men are instead choosing to pursue traditionally low status manual labor occupations as careers Masters of Craft looks at the renaissance of four such trades bartending distilling barbering and butchering In this in depth and engaging book Richard Ocejio takes you into the lives and workplaces of these people to examine how they are transforming these once undesirable jobs into cool and highly specialized upscale occupational niches and in the process complicating our notions about upward and downward mobility through work He shows how they find meaning in these jobs by enacting a set of cultural repertoires which include technical skills based on a renewed sense of craft and craftsmanship and an ability to understand and communicate that knowledge to others resulting in a new form of elite taste making Ocejo describes the paths people take to these jobs how they learn their chosen trades how they imbue their work practices with craftsmanship and how they teach a sense of taste to their consumers Focusing on cocktail bartenders craft distillers upscale men s barbers and whole animal butcher shop workers in Manhattan Brooklyn and upstate New York Masters of Craft provides new insights into the stratification of taste gentrification and the evolving labor market in today s postindustrial city
