Creating A Culture Of Competence:

Creating a Culture of Competence Michael Zwell, 2000-05-22 Competence and its role in achieving peak performance remains one of the hot issues in business today Yet it s not enough for individual leaders managers and employees to demonstrate personal competencies Rather an entire organization must be unified to create a culture of competence This culture can then be passed along to succeeding generations of employees who will continue to contribute to and strengthen a company s future In Creating a Culture of Competence Michael Zwell provides a bold prescriptive approach to achieving organizational success through improved individual and group job performance and satisfaction He clearly defines those core qualities that lead to peak performance then illustrates step by step how companies can identify and develop individual leadership managerial and employee competencies for maximum personal and organizational benefit Based on years of personal experience and research Creating a Culture of Competence expertly combines behavioral theory with solid business practice to create positive organizational change You ll discover how to Use vision and competencies for cultural transformation Create competency models Implement competencies in selection and performance management You ll learn what really makes an organization successful understand how HR s role is becoming central to building a high performance organization find out what technologies are being used to change corporate culture then combine these elements to create a highly effective competency based organizational strategy Creating a Culture of Competence offers a blueprint for hiring developing and retaining a superior workforce By encouraging individuals to realize their potential then motivating them to work in concert you can lead your organization to reach its objectives and get superior business results

Creating Cultural Capital Olaf Kuhlke, Annick Schramme, Rene Kooyman, 2015-06-12 In recent years the global creative economy has experienced unprecedented growth Considerable research has been conducted to determine what exactly the creative economy is what occupations are grouped together as such and how it is to be measured Organizations on various scales from the United Nations to local governments have released creative or cultural economy reports developed policies for creative urban renewal and directed attention to creative placemaking the purposeful infusion of creative activity into specific urban environments Parallel to these research and policy interests academic institutions and professional organizations have begun a serious discussion about training programs for future professionals in the creative and cultural industries We now have entire colleges offering undergraduate and graduate programs leading to degrees in arts management arts entrepreneurship cultural management cultural entrepreneurship or cultural economics And many professional organizations offer specialized training and certificates in cultural heritage museums studies entertainment and film In this book we bring together over fifty scholars from across the globe to shed light on what we collectively call cultural entrepreneurship the training of professionals for the creative industries who will be change agents and resourceful visionaries that organize cultural financial social and human capital to generate revenue from a cultural and creative activity

Part I of this volume begins with the observation that the creative industries and the cultural entrepreneurship generated within them are a global phenomenon. An increasingly mobile international workforce is moving cultural goods and services across national boundaries at unprecedented rates. As a result, the education of cultural professionals engaged in global commerce has become equally internationalized. Part II looks into the emergence of cultural entrepreneurship as a new academic discipline and interrogates the theoretical foundations that inform the pedagogy and training for the creative industries. Design thinking, humanities, poetics, risk strategy, and the artist-entrepreneur dichotomy are at the heart of this discussion. Part III showcases the design of cultural entrepreneurship curricula and the pedagogies employed in teaching artists and culture industry specialists. Our authors examine pedagogy and curriculum at various scales and in national and international contexts, from the creation of entire new schools to undergraduate/graduate programs. Part IV provides case studies that focus on industry or sector-specific training, skills-based courses, information technology, social media, entrepreneurial competitions, and more. Part V concludes the book with selected examples of practitioner training for the cultural industries as it is offered outside of academia. In addition, this section provides examples of how professionals outside of academia have informed academic training and course work. Readers will find conceptual frameworks for building new programs for the creative industries, examples of pedagogical approaches, and skills-based training that are based on research and student assessments, and concrete examples of program and course implementation.
