Dredge Drain Reclaim Joh. van Veen, 1948 Dredge, Drain, Reclaim Johan Veen, 1950 Dredge, Drain, Reclaim Johan van Veen, 2014-01-15 Environmental History of the Rhine-Meuse Delta P.H. Nienhuis, 2008-05-06 This unique text presents the environmental history of the lowland delta of the rivers Rhine and Meuse It is an ecological story of evolving human environmental relations and how they cope with climate change and sea level rise The text offers a combination of in depth ecology and environmental history The synthesis presents a blueprint for future management and restoration from progressive reclamation of land in the past to adaptation of human needs to the forces of nature Dredge Drain Reclaim Johan Van Veen, 2012-12-06 During the occupation of the Netherlands the Germans made it impossible to carry out any maintenance work on our shores or any sounding soil investigation or current measurement work off the coast in the estuary of the Scheldt or in the channels between the Frisian Islands The work of Dr Johan van Veen then leader of this survey therefore came to a standstill He then came to me and asked me to give him some task so that he an indefatigable worker could continue to have work the best antidote against the German poison which affected only permanently unemployed men I knew his love for the history of our traditional handling of the defence against the water An all round study had never been published for in normal times a man with full knowledge of this type of work cannot find time for such a study as water is our everlasting enemy which must be kept under continual close observation From Dr van Veen's book it will be clear that the Dutch manner of dredging draining and reclaiming is a combination of traditions inherited from our ancestors and applied science to cope with modern demands This tradition is in our blood A more intimate knowledge of it will I hope furnish a key to some of the salient points in our national character Coastal Erosion and Protection in Europe Enzo Pranzini, Allan Williams, 2013-03-05 Europe has a long history of managing coastal erosion through a variety of protection strategies from the defences of the Venice lagoons to coastal land reclamation in the Netherlands This book provides a comprehensive review of the entire coastline of Europe and a comparative analysis of erosion problems and solutions in each country Each chapter discusses the natural and anthropogenic factors in the erosion process and in defence projects design and maintenance including coastal morphology and wave climate land use changes and use of coastal areas the evolution of coastal protection climate change and political and administrative assessments Particular attention is paid to demographic and economic factors influencing coastal erosion in each country and to technical and administrative criteria influencing defence projects design Lavishly illustrated in full colour throughout the book represents a definitive reference work on its subject Adaptive Strategies for Water Heritage Carola Hein, 2019-10-18 This Open Access book building on research initiated by scholars from the Leiden Delft Erasmus Centre for Global Heritage and Development CHGD and ICOMOS Netherlands presents multidisciplinary research that connects water to heritage Through twenty one chapters it explores landscapes cities engineering structures and buildings from around the world It describes how people have actively shaped the course form and function of water for human settlement and the development of civilizations establishing socio economic structures policies and cultures a rich world of narratives laws and practices and an extensive network of infrastructure buildings and urban form The book is organized in five thematic sections that link practices of the past to the design of the present and visions of the future part I discusses drinking water management part II addresses water use in agriculture part III explores water management for land reclamation and defense part IV examines river and coastal planning and part V focuses on port cities and waterfront regeneration Today the many complex systems of the past are necessarily the basis for new systems that both preserve the past and manage water today policy makers and designers can work together to recognize and build on the traditional knowledge and skills that old structure embody This book argues that there is a need for a common agenda and an integrated policy that addresses the preservation transformation and adaptive reuse of historic water related structures Throughout it imagines how such efforts will help us develop sustainable futures for cities landscapes and bodies of water

Acquisition for Outdoor Recreation--analysis of Selected Legal Problems Norman Williams,1962 Under a Metal Sky Philip Marsden,2025-11-04 Discover the wonders and perils of the earth's precious metals what they have offered us as humans and how they've forever changed our relationship with the world around us The ground beneath our feet is full of riches the ochre that allowed prehistoric humans to paint on cave walls the tin that drove the early Industrial Revolution radium the source of Marie Curie's wonder and lithium the essential mineral of modern life found in our mobile phones and laptops Each of these minerals has a story to tell and each has its place in the broader story of human history Under a Metal Sky takes us on a journey across the peat-rich Dutch lowlands through Prague and Bohemia and on to the gold-rich mountains of Georgia Along the way Philip Marsden uncovers the strange and colorful histories of alchemy scientific revolution industrialization and technological innovation peopled by figures like the Habsburg Emperor Rudolf II Goethe Marie Curie and William Blake But alongside wonder and inspiration there has also been plunder and heedless exploitation the consequences of which have set us on a path toward our own extinction Beautifully written and wildly mind-expanding Under a Metal Sky seamlessly blends travel writing cultural history and geology Who knew the history of rocks could be such a page-turner Underground Mathematics Thomas Morel,2022-12-22 History of the development of practical mathematics in early modern Europe through the practice of mining Gotham Unbound Theodore Steinberg,2014 Presents the history of New York City as it was transformed over a four hundred year period by politicians and developers from a Hudson River estuary with rolling hills rivers and forests into the concrete flatland that exists today Water Sheikhs and Dam Builders Francesca de Chatel,2011-12-31 Francesca de Chatel explores the problems and paradoxes of water resources in the Middle East and North Africa She takes an entirely new angle on the much-discussed question of water scarcity by examining the history and culture of water from a human perspective Unlike other books on the subject that provide specialized geopolitical economic and hydrological analyses this book presents the reality of water scarcity through the eyes of those confronting the problem on a daily basis The author provides a colorful and diverse portrait of a resource that is inextricably entwined with the history and future of the region and its peoples Using research obtained in her travels she combines lively character sketches interviews travel descriptions historical anecdotes and hard facts to reveal the complexity of this invaluable resource Besides identifying the causes of the current water crisis the book also discusses the reason for a lack of awareness among the general public and deals with a variety of themes the role of water in religions and ideologies the impact of large-scale water projects on people's perception of the resource and the politics of water pricing In exploring the past present and future of water in the region de Chatel exposes the roots of the current water crisis ORRRC Study Report ,1962 Form and Flow Kian Goh,2021-08-17 An examination of urban climate change response strategies and the resistance to them by grassroots activists and social movements Cities around the world are formulating plans to respond to climate change and adapt to its impact Often marginalized urban residents resist these plans offering counterplans to protest unjust and exclusionary actions In this book Kian Goh examines climate change response strategies in three cities New York Jakarta and Rotterdam and the mobilization of community groups to fight the perceived injustices and oversights of these plans Looking through the lenses of urban design and socioecological spatial politics Goh reveals how contested visions of the future city are produced and gain power Goh describes on the one hand a growing global network of urban environmental planning organizations intertwined with capitalist urban development and on the other social movements that themselves often harness the power of networks She explores such initiatives as Rebuild By Design in New York the Giant Sea Wall plan in Jakarta and Rotterdam Climate Proof and discovers competing narratives including community resiliency in Brooklyn and grassroots activism in the informal kampungs of Jakarta Drawing on participatory fieldwork and her own background in architecture and urban design Goh offers both theoretical explanations and practical planning and design strategies She reframes the critical concerns of urban climate change responses presenting a sociospatial typology of urban adaptation and considering the notion of a just resilience Finally she proposes a theoretical framework for designing equitable and just urban climate futures

Traces on the Rhodian Shore Clarence J. Glacken, 1976-08-24 In the history of Western thought men have persistently asked three questions concerning the habitable earth and their relationships to it Is the earth which is obviously a fit environment for man and other organic life a purposefully made creation Have its climates its relief the configuration of its continents influenced the moral and social nature of individuals and have they had an influence in molding the character and nature of human culture In his long tenure of the earth in what manner has man changed it from its hypothetical pristine condition From the time of the Greeks to our own answers to these questions have been and are being given so frequently and so continually that we may restate them in the form of general ideas the idea of a designed earth the idea of environmental influence and the idea of man as a geographic agent These ideas have come from the general thought and experience of men but the first owes much to mythology theology and philosophy the second to pharmaceutical lore medicine and weather observation the third to the plans activities and skills of everyday life such as cultivation carpentry and weaving The first two ideas were expressed frequently in antiquity the third less so although it was implicit in many discussions which recognized the obvious fact that men through their arts sciences and techniques had changed the physical environment about them This magnum opus of Clarence Glacken explores all of these questions from Ancient Times to the End of the Eighteenth Century

The Rise and Decline of Dutch Technological Leadership (2 Vols) Karel Davids, 2008-08-31 Technological leadership is an important topic in economic history and the history of technology This book addresses the issue of technological leadership by means of an in depth study on the Dutch Republic once described as the first modern economy Drawing on extensive research in archives in Europe and a vast amount of printed sources and secondary literature it provides a wide ranging overview of Dutch technological leadership in the early modern Europe it explains whence this leadership came about and why it ended and it explores to what extent the Dutch case illuminates the evolution of technological leadership in general This book is thus relevant for the study of technological leadership the development of technology in the early modern period as well as the history of the economic expansion of the Dutch Republic
