DROPOUTS IN PRIMARY SCHOOLS: STRATEGIES AND CHALLENGES DR. ANEESUNNISA BEGUM, 2019-03-26

Education is the driving force behind any strong economy and a prerequisite for social and economic growth. It creates opportunities and provides societies with a better educated and skilled workforce which is necessary for stimulating development. Govender and Steven 2004. Education is a key strategy for bringing about the changes necessary to ensure economic, cultural, and social development as well as environmental protection and food security. Gasperini L 2000 Child Labour and Human Rights. D. C. Nanjunda, 2008. The recent trend in the global system is to evaluate the development of any country not in terms of their military or economic strength or the splendor of their capital cities and big public buildings but also in terms of human development or the well-being of its citizens. Against this backdrop, the existence and perpetuation of child labor has been one of the main limiting factors standing in the way of human development in almost all the developing countries including India. The issue of child labour is a worldwide phenomenon and it exists in almost all the countries of this planet. Meanwhile, it is very saddening to write that our India is one among the nations in the world which has the unique distinction of being a large employer of child labour. Since child labour is a more complex natured problem, a balanced approach is needed to solve this issue with an interactive role from all concerned people and the agencies. It is the right time for all to be highly and really think regarding ensuring of better social, political, and economic lives to all sections of the society at least in the interest of human rights in this new millennium. Apart from the normal style, this book contains some thematic discussion on child labor and human rights. Each chapter has been written based on grass root experiences of the author. This is the most creamy part of this book. Each and every chapter of his book gives a different outlook on the problem to the readers. This book will be highly useful to academic people, anthropologists, policy makers, NGOs, research students, Development agencies, and others interested in studying the growing problems of child labour. One Percent for the Kids Isabel V. Sawhill, 2004-05-13. In the United States, long considered the land of opportunity, children born into different types of families begin life with very unequal prospects. A growing group of children is being raised in families in which a poorly educated mother begins childbearing at an early age, often outside marriage, and ends up dependent on public welfare. Another group is raised by parents who delay childbearing until they are well educated, married, and have stable jobs; these children go on to lead more advantageous lives. While virtually everyone talks about the importance of investing in the next generation, in the late 1990s federal spending on children represented only 2 percent of the nation's gross domestic product. This volume argues forcefully that the life prospects of children at the bottom of the socioeconomic ladder can be improved substantially and the growing gap between them and more privileged children reduced by making appropriate investments now. Taking their cue on funding from the Blair government in the United Kingdom, which since 1997 has invested almost an extra 1 percent of GDP to reducing child poverty, the contributors offer specific proposals along with their rationales and costs to improve early childhood education and health care bolster family income and work reduce teen pregnancy encourage and strengthen marriage and allow families to move to better neighborhoods The final chapter assesses the progress of the Blair government toward reaching its goals Contributors include Isabel Sawhill Brookings Institution Greg Duncan Northwestern University Katherine Magnuson Columbia University Andrea Kane Brookings Institution Sara McLanahan Princeton University Irwin Garfinkel Columbia University Robert Haveman University of Wisconsin Madison Jens Ludwig Georgetown University David Armor George Mason University Barbara Wolfe University of Wisconsin Madison Scott Scrivner Public Private Ventures and John H Anthropology and Child Labour D.
