Dry Wells and "deserted" Women Brinda Rao,1991 Applying Ecological Principles to Land Management Virginia H. Dale,Richard A. Haeuber,2011-06-27 This volume applies ecological principles and guidelines to understand past and current land use and land management and more importantly endeavors to promote more ecologically sound approaches to future land use and management decisions The volume incorporates case studies from a wide variety of disciplines and perspectives The case studies explore past and current land use decisions on both public and private lands and include practical approaches and tools for land use decision making Perhaps the most important feature of the book is the linking of ecological theory and principle with applied land use decision making the theoretical and empirical are joined through concrete case studies of actual land use decision making processes In this volume readers will find a statement of fundamental ecological principles that are relevant for land use planning and management coupled with multiple in depth explorations of the application of these principles in action In addition most case studies describe specific tools and approaches for incorporating endeavors to join fundamental ecological knowledge with cutting edge application in order to both educate and provide concrete guidance for decision making The intended audience is broad and multidisciplinary from undergraduate and graduate level courses in environmental studies to professional land use planners

Dry Wells and "deserted" Women Brinda Rao,1992 Gender and Governance in Rural Services The World Bank,International Food Policy Research Institute,2010-01-27 Gender and Governance in Rural Services provides policy relevant knowledge on strategies to improve agricultural and rural service delivery with a focus on providing more equitable access to these services especially for women It focuses India Ethiopia and Ghana and focuses on two public services agricultural extension as an example of an agricultural service and on drinking water as an example of rural service that is not directly related to agriculture but is of high relevance for rural women It provides empirical microlevel evidence on how different accountability mechanisms for agricultural advisory services and drinking water provision work in practice and analyzes factors that influence the suitability of different governance reform strategies that aim at making service provision more gender responsive It presents major findings from the quantitative and qualitative research conducted under the project in the three countries which are analyzed in a qualitative way to identify major patterns of accountability routes in agricultural and rural service provision and to assess their gender dimension The book is intended for use by a wide audience interested in agricultural and rural service provision including researchers members of the public administration policy makers and staff from nongovernmental organizations NGOs and international development agencies who are involved in the design and management of reform efforts projects and programs dealing with rural service provision

Flowing Upstream Sara Ahmed,2005-01-13 Empowering Society The Politics and Poetics of Water Lyla Mehta,2005 The book studies the relationship between large dams and water scarcity in Kutch It argues that water scarcity is not merely natural but is embedded in the social and power relations shaping water access use and practices Scarcity is portrayed as natural rather than human induced and this naturalisation of scarcity is beneficial to those who are powerful This is a significant book in the light of the growing water crisis in India and the world Hinduism and Ecology Christopher Key Chapple, Mary Evelyn Tucker, 2000 In this volume scholars of Hinduism Hindu practitioners and environmental activists discuss the past history and future prospects for the development of environmentally responsive forms of Hinduism Topics include the Vedic viewpoint on nature the potential contribution of Gandhian thought forest ecology in India the degradation and damming of river systems and Hindu grassroots approaches to environmental restoration BOOK JACKET Eye to Eye Susan Perry, Celeste Marguerite Schenck, 2001 Focusing on seven crucial debates in the field of gender and development this compilation shows why development policy must respond to cultural differences and illustrates the rewards of doing so

Engendering the Environment? Gender in the World Bank's Environmental Policies Priya A. Kurian, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2000 Priya Kurian's research offers environmental policy scholarship a new theoretically rich and empirically validated approach to understanding the significance of gender to environmental policy Feminist Dilemmas In Fieldwork Diane L. Wolf, 2018-03-05 Fieldwork poses particular dilemmas and contradictions for feminists because of the power relations inherent in the process of gathering data and implicit in the process of representation Although most feminist scholars are committed to seeking ethical ways to analyze women and gender these dilemmas are especially acute in fieldwork where research often entails working with those who are in less privileged positions than the researcher Despite attempts by feminist scholars to conduct more interactive and egalitarian research they have rarely been able to disrupt the hierarchies of power This book offers an interdisciplinary exploration of the kinds of dilemmas feminist researchers have confronted in the field both in the United States and in Third World countries Through experientially based writings the authors unravel the contradictions stemming from their multiple positions as insiders outsiders or both and from attempts to equalize the research relationship and in some cases to ameliorate the situation of those studied The introductory essay includes an extensive review of the literature Third World Women and Development, 2001 Each bibliography includes a comprehensive list of the theorist's works and critical studies of these works in English Each bibliography contains approximately 600 to 900 entries Books journal articles essays within edited books in the manner of Essay and General Literature and dissertations are included References are provided from a wide variety of disciplines and bibliographic sources The primary purpose of each bibliography is to provide access to the widely reprinted primary works in English and the critical literature in a great variety of books and journals The topical bibliographies include the authoritative works on the subject and are arranged in useful categories The lively part of the modern post modern debate is generally taking place in alternative and left journals journals always included in the literature search in the compiling of the bibliographies
