Courting Shadows:

Courting Shadows Jem Poster, 2009-01-27 A fantastically tightly written read every word novel As a psychological thriller it is as close to wonderful as anything I've recently read The Guardian In the winter of 1881 John Stannard a young architect is in self imposed exile in a remote English village carrying out repairs to the parish church Arrogant and insensitive to what he considers superstition and sentimental attachment to the past he soon begins to inflict serious damage on the ancient building as well as on those with whom he comes into contact most notably the beautiful ambitious local girl Ann Rosewell This is the mesmerizing tale of a man who clings ferociously to his warped notion of civilized behavior unwilling to admit his need for love Set in a vividly evoked landscape and taut with foreboding Jem Poster's striking first novel pits reason against emotion progress against preservation and explores our capacity for invention and self delusion the stories we tell each other and the stories we tell ourselves A dazzling debut Wholly involving from start to finish Publishers Weekly starred review Written in lavishly beautiful prose this is a consistently tense tale of rationality self delusion and epidemic superstition

Mapping Courtship and Kinship in Classical Japan Doris G. Bargen, 2015-08-31 Literary critiques of Murasaki Shikibu's eleventh century The Tale of Genji have often focused on the amorous adventures of its eponymous hero In this paradigm shifting analysis of the Genji and other mid Heian literature Doris G Bargen emphasizes the thematic importance of Japan's complex polygynous kinship system as the domain within which courtship occurs Heian courtship conducted mainly to form secondary marriages was driven by power struggles of succession among lineages that focused on achieving the highest position possible at court Thus interpreting courtship in light of genealogies is essential for comprehending the politics of interpersonal behavior in many of these texts Bargen focuses on the genealogical maze the literal and figurative space through which several generations of men and women in the Genji moved She demonstrates that courtship politics sought to control kinship by strengthening genealogical lines while secret affairs and illicit offspring produced genealogical uncertainty that could be dealt with only by reconnecting dissociated lineages or ignoring or even terminating them The work examines in detail the literary construction of a courtship practice known as kaimami or looking through a gap in the fence in pre Genji tales and diaries and Sei Shonagon's famous Pillow Book In Murasaki Shikibu's Genji courtship takes on multigenerational complexity and is often used as a political strategy to vindicate injustices counteract sexual transgressions or resist the pressure of imperial succession Borgen argues persuasively that a woman observed by a man was not wholly deprived of agency She could choose how much to reveal or conceal as she peeked through shutters from behind partitions fans and kimono sleeves or through narrow carriage windows That mid Heian authors showed courtship in its innumerable forms as being influenced by the spatial considerations of the Heian capital and its environs and by the architectural details of the residences within which aristocratic women were sequestered adds a fascinating topographical dimension to courtship In Mapping Courtship and Kinship in Classical Japan readers both familiar with and new to The Tale of Genji and its predecessors will be introduced to a wholly new interpretive lens through which to view these classic texts In addition the book includes charts that trace Genji characters lineages maps and diagrams that plot the movements of courtiers as they make their way through the capital and beyond and color reproductions of paintings that capture the drama of courtship Courting Darkness L. Perspectives in Ethology P. Bateson,2013-03-13 When we began this series we wanted to encourage imaginative thinking among ethologists and those working in related fields By the time we had reached Volume 3 we were advised by our publishers to give each volume a theme Although we accepted the advice it ran somewhat counter to our own wish to give our authors full rein It also meant that we could not accept submitted manuscripts if they lay too far outside the topic for the next volume We did however cheat a little and faithful followers of the series will have noticed that some of the contributions were not exactly on the stated theme Anyway our publishers have now agreed that we can make honest people of ourselves by once again accepting a broad range of manuscripts for any volume We shall also solicit manuscripts on particular topics that seem to be timely and appropriate and each volume will continue to have a subtitle that relates to the theme of the majority of the papers in the volume We hope that with our more permissive policy now explicit potential contributors will feel encouraged to submit manuscripts to either of us at the addresses given at the end of this Preface When planning the present volume we wanted our contributors to build bridges between studies of behavior and the neurosciences In recent years the majority of people working on behavior seem to have been exclusively concerned with functional and evolutionary approaches
