consideration of any kind merely on my representation that it would be a great pity if this uniform edition of Fabre's Works should be rendered incomplete because certain essays formed part of volumes of extracts previously published in this country Their generosity is almost unparalleled in my experience and I wish to thank them publicly for it in the name of the author of the French publishers and of the English and American publishers as well as in my own Of the remaining chapters one or two have appeared in the English Review or other magazines but most of them now see the light in English for the first time I have once more as in the case of The Mason bees to thank Miss Frances Rodwell for the help which she has given me in the work of translation and research and I am also grateful for much kind assistance received from the staff of the Natural History Museum and from Mr Geoffrey Meade Waldo in particular ALEXANDER TEIXEIRA DE MATTOS Chelsea 1915
