Library,1931 Diet for a Large Planet Chris Otter,2023-06-05 In this magisterial study Chris Otter traces Britain s transition to a diet rich in animal proteins and refined carbohydrates like wheat and sugar a diet that required more acreage than that of Britain itself and that if followed everywhere would soon deplete the planet s resources as the title announces this was truly a diet for a large planet From the late 1700s to the end of World War II Otter accounts for the structures practices and ideologies generated by Britain s nutrition transition He shows how Britain was the first nation to undergo the population explosion urbanization and industrialization we associate with modernity and how it managed the unprecedented problem of how to feed its growing population Its radical solution would be to outsource its food production leading away from a locally produced plant based diet to one reliant on global markets international trade networks and enormous agro food systems that would have planetary effects on famine war the world economy and the wider earth system Not only did this phase in Britain s history make the consumption of meat white bread sugar and butter a coveted diet linked to development luxury and power it also opened up a new phase in economic history one whose dramatic effects endure to this day whether in terms of health problems eating disorders or the seemingly endless world food crisis

Agricultural Library Notes ,1929 Provisioning Paris Steven Laurence Kaplan,2018-09-05 Dependence upon grain deeply marked every aspect of life in eighteenth century France Steven Kaplan focuses upon this dependence at the point where it placed the greatest strain on the state the society and the individual on the daily supply of grain and flour that furnished the staff of life He reconstructs the history of provisioning in pre industrial Paris and provides a comprehensive view of a culture shaped by the subsistence imperative Who were the agents of the provisioning trade What were their commercial practices What sorts of relations did they maintain with each other How did the authorities regulate their business To answer these questions Professor Kaplan combed the archives and libraries of France He maps out the elementary structures of the trade and shows how they were transformed as a result of cultural and political as well as commercial and technological changes In rich ethnographic detail he evokes the dayto day life of merchants millers bakers brokers and market officials He shows how flour superseded grain and how the millers overtook the merchants in the provisioning process He explores the tension between the suppliers need for freedom and the consumers need for security Even as he weaves the intricate patterns of life inside and outside the marketplace he never loses sight of the immense
