CHAPTER I A NEW USE FOR A DICTAPHONE The rain fell in torrents over the great battlefield as Hal Paine and Chester Crawford taking advantage of the inky blackness of the night crept from the shelter of the American trenches that faced the enemy across No Man's Land In the trenches themselves all was silence To a spectator it would have seemed that the occupants were either dead or asleep yet such was not the case It is true that most of the men had turned in for the night sleeping on their arms for there was no means of telling at what moment the enemy might issue from his trenches in another of the night raids that had marked this particular sector for the last few weeks but the ever vigilant sentinels stood watch over the sleeping men They would sound an alarm should occasion demand in ample time to arouse the sleepers if an enemy's head appeared in the darkness Hal and Chester of course left the American trenches with full knowledge of these sentinels otherwise they might have been shot Once beyond the protecting walls of earth they moved swiftly and silently toward the German trenches less than a hundred feet away just the distance from the home plate to first base on a baseball diamond as Hal put it ninety feet These two lads who now advanced directly toward the foe were lieutenants in the first American expeditionary force to reach France to lend a hand in driving back the legions of the German Emperor who still clung tenaciously to territory he had conquered in the early stages of the great war These boys had at one time been captains in the British army and had had three years of strenuous times and exciting adventures in the greatest of all wars Their captaincies they'd won through gallant action upon the field of battle American lads they had been left in Berlin at the outbreak of hostilities when they were separated from Hal's mother. They made their way to Belgium where for a time they saw service with King Albert's troops. Later they fought under the tricolor with the Russians and the British and Canadians. When the United States declared war on Germany, Hal and Chester with others were sent to America where they were of great assistance in training men. Uncle Sam had selected to officer his troops. They had relinquished their rank in the British army to be able to do this. Now they found themselves again on French soil but fighting under the Stars and Stripes. On this particular night they advanced toward the German lines soon after an audience with General John J. Pershing, commander in chief of the American expeditionary forces. In one hand Chester carried a little hardwood box to which were attached coils of wire. In the other hand the lad held a revolver. Hal likewise carried his automatic in his hand. Each was determined to give a good account of himself should his presence be discovered. It was unusually quiet along the front this night. It was too dark for opposing snipers, sharpshooters to get in their work and the voices of the big guns which almost incessantly for the last few weeks had hurled shells across the intervening distance between the two lines of trenches were stilled.

The Boy Allies With Haig In Flanders Clair Wallace Hayes, 2024-12-02 NEW PRINT WITH PROFESSIONAL TYPE SET IN CONTRAST TO SCANNED PRINTS OFFERED BY OTHERS. The Boy Allies With Haig In Flanders Or The Fighting Canadians Of Vimy Ridge. This book is a result of an effort made by us towards making a contribution to the preservation and repair of original classic literature. In an attempt to preserve, improve and recreate the original content we have worked towards 1. Type setting, Reformatting. The complete work has been re-designed via professional layout, formatting and type setting tools to re-create the same edition with rich typography, graphics, high quality images and table elements giving our readers the feel of holding a fresh and newly reprinted and/or revised edition as opposed to other scanned printed Optical Character Recognition (OCR) reproductions. 2. Correction of imperfections. As the work was re-created from the scratch, therefore it was vetted to rectify certain conventional norms with regard to typographical mistakes, hyphenations, punctuation, blurred images, missing content pages and/or other related subject matters upon our consideration. Every attempt was made to rectify the imperfections related to omitted constructs in the original edition via other references. However, a few of such imperfections which could not be rectified due to intentional/unintentional omission of content in the original edition were inherited and preserved from the original work to maintain the authenticity and construct relevant to the work.

The Boy Allies with Haig in Flanders - The Fighting Canadians of Vimy Ridge Clair W. Hayes, 2014-11-11. Hal thanked the captain and made his way home alone. As he moved up the steps he was startled to see a shadowy figure lurking in the doorway. His hand dropped to his pocket and he advanced cautiously. "Don't be afraid. Take your hand away from that revolver," came the voice of Gladys Schweiring. Miss Gladys exclaimed, "Hal, in surprise! What are you doing here? It is almost midnight. I was waiting for you." "Was the low response. I was afraid something might have happened." It has replied Hal, "but it is good news and not bad. Where is your mother? In the drawing room. Are the others there? Just your friends. The guests have gone and father has retired. Good. I have important information for them Hal followed the young girl into the drawing room Chester rose to his feet By George I m glad to see you back safely he said I was afraid something had happened Others echoed his words Folks said Hal I ve news for you good news What is it demanded Chester eagerly Well said Hal very quietly I ve seen the list CHAPTER VII The
