The Brass Check A Study of American Journalism by Upton Sinclair The first part of the novel focuses on Mrs Morel and her unhappy marriage to a drinking miner She has many fights with her husband some of which have painful results on several occasions she is locked out of the house and hit in the head with a drawer Separated from her husband Mrs Morel finds comfort in her four children especially her children Her eldest son William is her favorite of hers and she is very upset when he takes a job in London and moves away from his family When William falls ill and dies a few years later she is crushed without even noticing the rest of her children until she almost loses Paul her second child too From that point on Paul becomes the focus of her life and the two seem to live for each other Paul falls in love with Miriam Leivers who lives on a farm not too far from the Morel family They carry on a very intimate but purely platonic relationship for many years Ms Morel doesn't approve of Miriam and this may be the main reason Paul doesn't marry her He constantly fluctuates in her feelings towards her Paul meets Clara Dawes a suffragette separated from her husband through Miriam As he approaches Clara and they begin to discuss her relationship with Miriam she tells him that she should consider consuming their love and he goes back to Miriam to see how he feels Paul and Miriam sleep together and are briefly happy but shortly after Paul decides he doesn't want to marry Miriam and so he breaks up with her He still feels that his soul belongs to her and in part reluctantly accepts. However, he realizes that he loves mother more than she does. After breaking off his relationship with Miriam, Paul begins spending more time with Clara, and they begin an extremely passionate relationship. However, he does not want to divorce her husband Baxter, and therefore they can never be married. Paolo's mother falls ill, and he spends most of her time taking care of her. When she finally dies, he is heartbroken, and after one last plea from Miriam, he goes away alone. At the end of the novel.

The Routledge Companion to American Journalism History Melita M. Garza, Michael Fuhlhage, Tracy Lucht, 2023-09-20. The Routledge Companion to American Journalism History revisits media history across forms, formats, and multiple fault lines including gender, ethnicity, race, and citizenship status. Original contributions highlight areas of journalism history in desperate need of further treatment, with a special focus on diversity, equity, and accountability. Sections cover the early origins and development of journalism in the United States, pivotal moments and personalities in various strands of journalism, underrepresented groups and formats in journalism history, and key issues in doing journalism history. Authors aim to fill in the gaps left by traditional historical narratives by examining overlooked subjects such as labor reporting and overdue theoretical perspectives such as intersectionality. Collectively, the voices in this book offer a more inclusive paradigm for the field. Written by a range of recognized journalism scholars, both well established and emerging, this collection offers a thought-provoking starting point for researchers and advanced students seeking a critical understanding of American journalism history as conceived in the current era.

Recharting Media Studies Philip Bounds, 2008. Scholars in Media Studies increasingly take the view that our understanding of the history of the discipline is deeply inadequate. It is now widely recognised that a large number of important media analysts have simply been omitted from the standard histories. This book aims to fill in some of the gaps by examining the work of eleven neglected writers, each of whom has made a seminal contribution to the analysis of the media, but whose work rarely appears in student textbooks, anthologies, and readers. In keeping with the interdisciplinary ambitions of contemporary Media Studies, the selected thinkers are drawn from a wide range of historical periods and intellectual backgrounds. There are chapters on sociologists, creative writers, cultural theorists, art critics, journalists, and even ancient Greek philosophers. The aims of the book are, by no means, purely antiquarian. The contributors believe that a revival of interest in the work of their chosen writers can go a long way towards revitalising Media Studies, especially by 1) drawing attention to a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches which have yet to be adequately exploited, 2) suggesting new areas of research, and 3) transforming our understanding of the historical development of Media Studies.

CBS's Don Hollenbeck Loren Ghiglione, 2008. Loren Ghiglione recounts the fascinating life and tragic suicide of Don Hollenbeck, the controversial newscaster who became a primary target of McCarthyism's smear tactics. Drawing on unsealed FBI records, private family correspondence, and interviews with Walter Cronkite, Mike Wallace, Charles Collingwood, Douglas Edwards, and more than one hundred other journalists, Ghiglione writes a balanced biography that cuts close to the bone of this complicated newsman and chronicles the stark consequences of the anti-Communist frenzy.

that seized America in the late 1940s and 1950s Hollenbeck began his career at the Lincoln Nebraska Journal marrying the boss's daughter before becoming an editor at William Randolph Hearst's rip-roaring Omaha Bee News He participated in the emerging field of photojournalism at the Associated Press assisted in creating the innovative ad-free PM newspaper in New York City reported from the European theater for NBC radio during World War II and anchored television newscasts at CBS during the era of Edward R. Murrow Hollenbeck's pioneering prize-winning radio program CBS Views the Press 1947-1950 was a declaration of independence from a print medium that had dominated American newsmaking for close to 250 years The program candidly criticized the prestigious New York Times the Daily News then the paper with the largest circulation in America and Hearst's flagship Journal American and popular morning tabloid Daily Mirror For this honest work Hollenbeck was attacked by conservative anti-Communists especially Hearst columnist Jack O. Brian and in 1954 plagued by depression alcoholism three failed marriages and two network firings and worried about a third Hollenbeck took his own life In his investigation of this amazing American character Ghiglione reveals the workings of an industry that continues to fall victim to censorship and political manipulation Separating myth from fact CBS's Don Hollenbeck is the definitive portrait of a polarizing figure who became a symbol of America's tortured conscience Insurgent Democracy Michael J.

Lansing, 2015-11-06 In 1915 western farmers mounted one of the most significant challenges to party politics America has seen the Nonpartisan League which sought to empower citizens and restrain corporate influence Before its collapse in the 1920s the League counted over 250,000 paying members spread to thirteen states and two Canadian provinces controlled North Dakota's state government and birthed new farmer labor alliances Yet today it is all but forgotten neglected even by scholars Michael J. Lansing aims to change that Insurgent Democracy offers a new look at the Nonpartisan League and a new way to understand its rise and fall in the United States and Canada Lansing argues that rather than a spasm of populist rage that inevitably burned itself out the story of the League is in fact an instructive example of how popular movements can create lasting change Depicting the League as a transnational response to economic inequity Lansing not only resurrects its story of citizen activism but also allows us to see its potential to inform contemporary movements A History of
