Ndiritu, John K. Lynam, Adiel N. Mbabu, 2004 On no other continent is the need for agricultural research greater than it is in Africa Nowhere are the complexities of producing well adapted agricultural technologies more binding yet the basic institutions supporting agriculture are some of the weakest in the developing world In Africa the challenge of increasing food supply to keep pace with population growth and rising urban demand of producing the agricultural technologies that will fuel that process and of designing the basic institutions that will create and deliver these technologies remains largely unfulfilled Transformation of Agricultural Research Systems in Africa Lessons from Kenya analyzes Kenya s experiences in transforming its Kenya Agricultural Research Institute KARI over time Kenya was chosen because it is the third largest agricultural research system in sub Saharan Africa and it has been reorganized to make it more efficient in serving the needs of small scale farms in national regional and global markets The authors are highly seasoned professionals with years of experience in crafting institutional innovations This case study can be used to draw implications for other research systems in sub Saharan Africa Review of the Agricultural Knowledge System in Fiji Lorenz Bachmann, 2001 Investment Strategies for Agriculture and Natural Resources G. J. Persley, 1998 In response to the significant changes that have occurred in the 1990s in the financing and organization of agricultural and natural resources research The World Bank in collaboration with the Australian Centre for International Agricultural Research the UK Department for International Development the International Food Policy Research Institute and Deutsche Gesellschaft für Technische Zusammenarbeit initiated a series of regional and country case studies The aim of these is to examine the impact of the changes This book brings together the findings of these studies It covers the changing nature of public sector research in industrialized and developing countries including the effects of the investment stimulus created by the advent of biotechnology and intellectual property rights and the collaborations which have resulted The lessons learned from the different strategies adopted to organize and manage agricultural research are emphasized along with their effectiveness in terms of the use of human and financial resources to achieve the research goals The findings are summarized and a series of recommendations are made in terms of future food needs and environmentally sustainable development Research managers policy makers in national governments and funding agencies and agricultural economists will find this book an essential reference tool ISNAR Newsletter International Service for National Agricultural Research,1993 Modeling the Impact of Potato Research on Small Farmers in Bolivia Jorge E.
