African Agricultural Reforms M. Ataman Aksoy,2012-07-10 This volume analyzes the political economy of the successes and failures of the agricultural reform programs in Sub Saharan Africa It shows that in almost all cases reforms lead to a supply response but their sustainability in face of shocks depend on the consensus about the reform and the subsequent rent distribution Food and Agricultural Policy in Russia Csaba Csáki,2002-01-01 The agricultural sector in Russia has considerable untapped productive potential Given this potential agriculture could provide a solid foundation for growth and poverty alleviation particularly in rural areas of Russia The objectives of this book are to facilitate debate of issues key to agricultural policy to contribute to a greater understanding of the Russian agricultural sector outside of Russia and to identify a framework for further collaboration between the Russian government and the World Bank in the rural sector elements Governance Impact on Private Investment Nina Bubnova, 2000 During the last decade infrastructure finance and provision graduated from traditional means to more innovative ones primarily initiated by private companies and supported through their equity and debt Capital markets increasingly became the main funding source for infrastructure projects worldwide including investments in developing and transition countries where infrastructure penetration still falls considerably short of needs Infrastructure bonds served as the most popular method of oil gas electricity telecommunications and transport project financing in these countries throughout 1990-99 thereby substituting government funding Using an innovative methodological approach Governance Impact on Private Investment provides a thorough examination of the effect that governance frameworks both political and regulatory have on investors risk perceptions and on associated costs for infrastructure financing It identifies those political and regulatory risks that most concern investors It offers a unique comparative analysis of developed and emerging infrastructure bond markets The analysis demonstrates how the factors that drive infrastructure finance in the two country groups differ which helps to identify the policy implications of these factors

The City Poverty Assessment Jesko Hentschel, Radha Seshagiri, 2000-01-01 Cities and towns are increasingly becoming the primary locus of poverty in many countries Rural urban migration and low urban mortality rates have contributed to the rapid population growth of cities in many parts of the world With such rapid growth comes an increasing concentration of poverty in urban areas In parallel more countries assign local governments increased responsibility in fighting poverty With decentralization the responsibility of local social policy goes beyond the execution of centrally designed and funded education and health programs In many countries local policymakers today decide on tax rates expenditure policies development of new assistance programs incentives for local economic development land and zoning laws and more The formulation of pro poor local policies requires good information analyses Local governments and their partners have both an opportunity and a need to understand the determinants of poverty and impediments for its reduction This paper is an introduction to how such local information on poverty can be gathered and analyzed It provides local policy makers with a broad overview of the type of questions typically asked and answered in City Poverty Assessments As the nature of poverty differs widely between cities and countries so will the content of such poverty assessments as they have to be adapted to local needs This publication will be of interest to city policy makers international organizations nongovernmental organizations and urban practitioners

Trade and Cost Competitiveness in the Czech Republic, Hungary, Poland, and Slovenia Peter Havlik, 2000-01-01 Although the four countries considered in this study are the most developed transition countries in Europe their average wages are only a fraction of West European levels While the labor costs would theoretically give the Central and Eastern European CEEC countries an advantage capital shortages and the lack of skills required for a market economy prevent its use The report was prepared under the auspices of the World Bank by Peter Havlik Deputy Director of the Vienna Institute for International Economic Studies WIIW This report reviews wage and labor productivity developments and examines the evolution of export competitiveness It also summarizes the main findings from the ongoing research by WIIW on the impact of foreign direct investment on restructuring and provides some policy recommendations

Poverty and Policy in Latin America and the Caribbean Quentin Wodon, Robert L. Ayres, 2000 Although the progress toward poverty reduction remains sluggish other dimensions of social welfare in the Latin American and Caribbean LAC region show signs of improvement Adult literacy and school enrollment rates life expectancy at birth and the amount of access to safe water are increasing Nutrition indicators are also improving However other factors demonstrate that many problems persist especially the inequality between rich and poor This report analyzes the evolution of poverty and inequality in the LAC region from 1986 to 1996 with projections to 1998 It reviews the policies which have been advocated or implemented to reduce poverty The report combines the results of new empirical work using household surveys from 12 countries short theoretical developments and a review of the literature on issues related to poverty inequality and social policy in LAC Some of the theoretical developments introduce new research techniques Chapters three to six follow the framework proposed in the forthcoming World Development Report 2000 2001 The framework identifies three essential elements for poverty reduction Those elements include opportunities for the poor and investments in the human capital of the poor security through social safety nets and empowerment

Food, Agriculture, and Rural Development Kostas G. Farm Sector Restructuring in Belarus Csaba Csáki, Zvi Lerman, Sergei Sotnikov, 2000 Agriculture remains the main source of employment and livelihood for the large rural population of many transition countries especially among the former Soviet republics Accordingly the World Bank continuously monitors the progress of land reform and farm restructuring in the region because of the potential impact of these processes on rural development and poverty alleviation in rural areas The present study on Belarus is the latest addition to a long and growing series of World Bank publications on land reform and farm restructuring in the former socialist countries of Europe and Central Asia The unique features of all these publications is their reliance on first hand empirical information collected through extensive farm surveys of various rural constituencies Analysis of survey findings enables the World Bank to base its policy dialogue with governments in the region on solid empirical facts making the Bank's recommendations more credible and relevant The survey findings in this volume will provide a platform for useful policy discussions with this country's government and supply international donors that are active there with essential information to design their strategic programs

Assessment of Corporate Sector Value and Vulnerability Dale F. Gray, 1999-01-01 Once equity has fallen below a certain threshold for a significant period of time it triggers a suspension of debt payments and distorts incentives for equity holders and managers But what is a significant period of time You or I could pay a 10 million annual mortgage payment for a day or two but not two or three months Similarly owners and managers can withstand short periods of illiquidity or negative equity but not longer ones At some point in time the inability to meet obligations and perception of continued difficulties creates a system wide breakdown in debt payments The relationship between the corporate sector and a country's macroeconomy is receiving increased attention from policymakers and investors especially those affected by the Asian crisis Recent crises have pointed out the importance of improving our understanding of the links between the corporate sector the financial sector and the macroeconomy in a world of volatile capital flows Assessing the vulnerability of the corporate sector and its links to financial and exchange rate crisis is important for both improved surveillance and in the design of policies in crisis countries However the analytical and operational tools available to policymakers and investors to analyze this problem have been limited This Technical Paper was prepared as part of an initiative to develop new frameworks which can integrate state of the art corporate finance principles macroeconomic and financial sector analysis An innovative yet practical framework is provided which has numerous applications for assessing corporate sector vulnerability design of corporate restructuring strategies as well as financial sector and macroeconomic policies It will be of interest to bankers economic policymakers corporate finance specialists and macroeconomists

The papers in this volume are selected from the presentations at the Third World Bank/FAO EU Accession Workshop held in Sofia, Bulgaria, on June 17-20, 2000, and are organized around four topics: i) defining the concepts of rural development options for EU accession candidate countries; ii) rural development in the European Union; iii) rural development in Central and Eastern Europe; and iv) international experiences and the role of international organizations in supporting rural development in the EU accession candidate countries. Sustainable Crop - Livestock Production for Improved Livelihoods and Natural Resource Management in West Africa Williams, Timothy O., Tarawali, Shirley A., Hiernaux, Pierre H.Y., Fernández Rivera, S., 2004-01-01

Food Safety Issues in the Developing World Laurian Unnevehr, Nancy Hirschhorn, 2000-01-01. Food safety is receiving more attention worldwide with the rising incidence of foodborne disease, concern over new potential hazards, and growth in agricultural trade. Investments to improve food safety in developing countries can reduce the burden of disease and remove the barriers to fresh food product exports, providing another source of income for the rural sector. International disputes over sanitary and phytosanitary (SPS) measures influence the ability of developing countries to compete in export markets. These countries need to evaluate their interest in the SPS agreement under the World Trade Organisation (WTO), participate more fully in international agencies responsible for harmonisation, develop the capacity to assess equivalence for process standards which are increasingly used for fresh food products, and resist the imposition of inappropriate standards.
