Agricultural Policy And Sustainability:

Agriculture and Sustainability European Consultative Forum on the Environment and Sustainable Development, European Commission, 1998 Sustainable Agriculture Policies for Human Well-Being Bazyli Czyżewski, Łukasz Kryszak, 2022-09-27 This book deals with the important topic of policies for sustainable agriculture since food insecurity is a growing concern for policy makers and will affect the quality of life and well being of generations to come The authors provide a theoretical background to the concept of sustainable agriculture including its recent developments monitor the current state of sustainability in agriculture in different regions of the world and evaluate current agricultural policies to propose new solutions They show practical ways of sustainability measurement that could be applied to different regions The book takes into account sustainability indicators based on economic social and environmental aspects and discusses the trade offs between these three dimensions It also answers the question of whether current agricultural policies contribute to balancing between the goals of agriculture that of not just providing food but of contributing to the greater good and how policies differ and have evolved across the world Finally it puts together the best practices of sustainability for the use of policymakers The book pays particular attention to least developed countries where hunger and malnutrition are high but where productivity should not come at the expense of environmental and social goals This book is of use to a wide readership of policy makers professionals and academics in the social and environmental sciences interested in the improvement of human life through sustainable agricultural policy implementation Guidelines for the Integration of Sustainable Agriculture and Rural Development Into Agricultural Policies J. B. Hardaker, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1997-01-01 Policy objectives for Sustainable Agriculture and Rural Development SARD may be summed up as the pursuit of the goals of growth equity efficiency and sustainability Growth is important to meet the food needs of growing populations with rising incomes and to provide continued sustainable livelihoods for rural people in the future Equity is important in terms of the relief of poverty and deprivation for this and future generations Efficiency matters since we cannot afford to waste resources Finally sustainability is the objective that has come into increased prominence with the recognition of the significant threats that exist to future welfare and the environment Sustainability has many dimensions and interpretations but in the context of agriculture embraces food security responsibility in resource use and environmental management and the resilience of production systems to shocks and challenges There is interdependence between each of these four objectives so that the pursuit of SARD requires an integrated approach to policy making in which all four aspects are considered Publisher s description Regenerating Agriculture Jules N. Pretty, 1995 The author looks at the challenge facing agriculture today and details the concepts and characteristics of alternative sustainable agricultural practices Empirical evidence from a diverse range of agro ecological and community setting show the impact of more sustainable practices In addition existing policy frameworks and institutional processes are considered and alternatives which are known to work are presented Agricultural Policy and Sustainability Paul Faeth,1993 Integrating Sustainable Agriculture, Ecology, and Environmental Policy Richard K. Olson,1992 Explores how ecological knowledge applied as part of a multidisciplinary effort can be used to design an environmentally sound agriculture This examination provides those interested in agriculture with an introduction to related work in other fields including ecology and economics

Agricultural Policies for Sustainable Management, and Use of Natural Resources in Africa ,1999 Environmental Indicators and Agricultural Policy Floor Brouwer,Bob Crabtree,1999 Indicators in the field of biodiversity and landscape Indicators in the field of environmental pollution Indicators in the field of policy analysis Integration of Sustainable Agriculture and Rural Development Issues in Agricultural Policy Steven A. Breth,1996 This book stems from the FAO Winrock International Workshop on Integration of SARD Issues in Agricultural Policy held May 22 24 1995 at FAO headquarters in Rome The workshop centered on a paper written by Edward Schuh and Sandra Archibald which had been prepared at the request of FAO They were asked to work closely with the FAO to analyze agricultural policies and planning processes in relation to economic adjustment in developing countries Second task was to discuss key issues in natural resource management and environmental protection for sustainable agriculture and rural development SARD in these countries and based on these analyses to develop a methodological and operational framework for the integration of environmental and sustainable development considerations into the mainstream of agricultural planning and policy analysis in the developing countries Towards a Sustainable European Agricultural Policy for the 21st Century Johan F. M.

Swinnen,2002 The debate on agricultural policy in the EU has been very lively and politically prominent over the past months The Common Agricultural Policy CAP of the EU has undergone major changes since it was first implemented at the end of the 1960s Commentators suggest that the CAP changes made in the Agenda 2000 reform package were insufficient to address the problems facing the CAP in the coming years These include enlargement new trade negotiations and the demand by European society for a safe sustainable agri food system to name but a few This report highlights the most pressing challenges to creating a sustainable CAP for the 21st century It focuses on strategic policy options that are closely linked to the CAP system to be hands on but the report refrains from becoming too specific on policy details focusing instead on the important strategic questions It offers six recommendations for good governance that aim to remove bureaucratic constraints from the food industry yet strengthen consistency and good practice

The EU's Common Agriculture Policy and Sustainable Farming: a Statement by Scientists Alexandra-Maria Klein,Guy Pe'er,Franz Baumann,2020 Abstract The European Union s EU Common Agricultural Policy CAP still fails to address the environmental and socioeconomic challenges of EU s agriculture Agricultural ecosystems are further degrading biodiversity is declining and agricultural Greenhouse Gas GHG emissions remain high At the same time farms are facing unresolved socio economic challenges and rural areas struggle to remain viable Knowledge data instruments and resources to address sustainability challenges are readily available Missing is the CAP s appropriate design as well as prioritization and the indispensable political will to improve these While the Commission s 2018 proposal fell short of addressing the key weaknesses of the CAP the amendment proposals of October 2020 by the Council and the Parliament significantly weaken the CAP s environmental instruments while maintaining or even enhancing the inequitable and counterproductive distribution of payments A weakened CAP puts both the environment and the future of farmers and farming at risk Scientific evidence shows that it is possible and efficient to align sustainable farming multifunctional agroforestry and long term prosperity with the climate and biodiversity goals of the EU Farmers interests and environmental protection can be mutually reinforced and achieved through a CAP that is aligns with the EU s Green Deal and Biodiversity Strategy while also conforming to the Paris Agreement The proposed CAP post 2020 as it stands represents a business as usual model of agriculture against the viable alternative of a responsible and sustainable farm model that ensures the viability of rural communities The narrative in support of this foundering approach by stressing the importance of food production and the need to feed the world is counteracted by a reality of more farmland taken for the production of fuel and feed for animals than for human consumption The political positions also fail to represent the interests and needs of most farmers who want to protect their living environment so in order to secure the long term sustainability of their own farming but rightly ask for public policy support The CAP should provide better means to do so and aim at a fair transition toward a sustainable future for farming The trilogue negotiations are a last opportunity to rethink the CAP post 2020 design and propose legal texts that allow rather than impede environmental and social ambition in line with the EU's statement that the next CAP will be fairer and greener. Using the time gained by the transition period of two years, we strongly recommend to Member States, the Council and the Parliament to rethink the current proposal. We specifically urge to:

1. Maintain conditionality along the lines set by the Commission and improve it by:
 - a. expanding permanent pasture protection beyond protected areas Natura 2000 and
 - b. maintaining or restoring at least 10% non-productive semi-natural landscape features on all utilized agricultural area rather than only on arable land.
2. Ring-fence budgets for Agri-Environment Climate Measures and allow Member States to expand their budgets beyond current levels.
3. Secure at least 30% of Pillar 1's budget for Eco-schemes and use current knowledge to ensure Eco-schemes are well designed, i.e. include only effective measures for biodiversity, monitored and re-evaluated to achieve measurable environmental impacts.
4. Place Areas of Nature Constraints in Pillar 1 or tie them strictly to environmental objectives and the protection of High Nature Value farmland regions rather than unduly list them as an environmental instrument without substantive criteria.
5. Cancel a ring-fencing for direct payments, especially coupled payments, by the barrier on Member States' maximum investment in the environment and the limitation for budget transfers to Pillar 2. These restrictions impede ambitious Member States from investing in rural areas and in public goods. Place a clear target for reducing toward phasing out of coupled payments, e.g. toward 5% as subsidies that are harmful for both markets and the environment.
6. Place a clear target for reducing toward phasing out of coupled payments, e.g. toward 5% as subsidies that are harmful for both markets and the environment.
7. If Direct Payments remain a political priority and more equity among the recipients is the proposed means to address farmers' concerns, then the Council and Parliament should make the Capping and Redistribution mechanism mandatory for all Member States and set strict capping rules.
8. Ensure the success of the new Delivery Model by means of:
 - a. linking Strategic Plans to the EU's Green Deal,
 - b. retaining the yearly reporting of Result indicators, and
 - c. improving the integration of scientists and other experts in the consultation processes offered by Agricultural Knowledge and Innovation Systems (AKIS). Science across all disciplines is available to address the agricultural sustainability challenge and improve the CAP.

Over 3600 signatories have supported the call to improve the CAP. They underlined the feasibility of constructive changes and documented the readiness to assist in positively transforming and future-proofing the CAP and the EU's agriculture (Pe'er et al. 2020).

The pursuit of sustainable agriculture in EU free trade agreements Luchino Ferraris, 2023-09-14. This book explores the extent to which EU Free Trade Agreements (FTAs) pursue sustainable agriculture in third-country parties. It contends that this should be part of a duty for the EU enshrined in the Treaties to promote its fundamental values in its external action. It suggests that the extent to which this occurs in practice may be reviewed judicially by the Court of Justice of the European Union. Against this background, selected agreements concluded by the EU with developed and developing countries (Canada, South Korea, Ukraine, Chile, SADC countries and Vietnam) are taken as case studies. The author concludes that in spite of the remarkable progress made hitherto, EU trade policy is still far from being in line with the increasingly strong commitment of the EU to take the lead in the international arena for environmental and climate matters This work adopts primarily a legal methodology but it broaches the subject in interdisciplinary terms It is addressed not only to EU policy makers but also to scholars of different fields and to the wider public interested in topics that have become of common concern for the future of our planet With a foreword by Daniel Calleja Crespo Director General of the European Commission DG Environment Agriculture, Trade, and the Environment John M. Antle, J. N. Lekakis, George P. Zanas, 1998 This work focuses on the liberalization of agricultural policy questioning its compatibility with the achievement of economic and environmental sustainability in the European Union It pays particular attention to agricultural reform

Agricultural Policy Monitoring and Evaluation 2024 Innovation for Sustainable Productivity Growth OECD, 2024-11-06 This annual report monitors and evaluates agricultural policies in 54 countries including the 38 OECD countries the five non OECD EU Member States and 11 emerging economies It finds that despite some modest declines in recent years support to agriculture has remained close to recent historical highs While changes in support have been limited agricultural policies have been both reactive and proactive boosting the sector's capacity to respond to current challenges while aiming to ensure that food systems are fit for purpose as future conditions evolve This year's report focuses on policies fostering sustainable productivity growth in agriculture Governments are applying a large variety of approaches to improve productivity while preserving natural resources and reducing agricultural greenhouse gas emissions The report notes however that clearly defined targets related to sustainable productivity growth and measurable indicators of progress are important to ensure that policies achieve their stated objectives The report also notes that making more effective use of producer support to promote innovation and environmental sustainability on the farm and refocusing overall support towards targeted R D can better leverage public spending to deliver public goods and sustainable productivity growth In line with the 2022 OECD Agriculture Ministerial Declaration the report identifies a seven point policy agenda for making agriculture more sustainable productive and resilient and for improving the effectiveness and efficiency of agricultural support and markets

Integrating Sustainable Agriculture, Ecology, and Environmental Policy Richard Olson, 2017 Find an interdisciplinary view of sustainable agriculture that emphasizes the potential contributions of ecology to agricultural sustainability in this groundbreaking book Integrating Sustainable Agriculture Ecology and Environmental Policy explores how ecological knowledge applied as part of a multidisciplinary effort can be used to design a sustainable and environmentally sound agriculture A more ecologically based agriculture can increase production efficiency and decrease environmental impacts but hard choices regarding population control energy conservation and land use must still be made This interdisciplinary approach ensures that the results are beneficial to all components for example an ecologically based management scheme which bankrupts the farmer is not considered a viable option for sustainable agriculture These thought provoking chapters are an excellent introduction to the contributions of ecological principles to an environmentally sound sustainable agriculture This multidisciplinary examination provides readers interested in agriculture with a valuable introduction to related work in other fields including ecology and economics Agronomists ecologists educators and policymakers will find essential information on diverse topics including the definition and measurement of ecological sustainability in agriculture landscape ecology and the design of sustainable agricultural landscapes soil ecology as a foundation for sustainable agriculture Federal agricultural policies as incentives or deterrent to sustainable agriculture applying farming systems research and extension to sustainable agriculture population growth and other threats to sustainable agriculture environmental policies and their effects on sustainable agriculture the role of precollege education in developing sustainable agriculture Provided by publisher Agricultural Policies, Trade and Sustainable Development in Egypt Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2018-11-05 An evidence based assessment of how Egypt s agricultural trade policies can best contribute to achieving economic social and environmental objectives by boosting exports promoting sustainable production and improving labour conditions OECD Food and Agricultural Reviews Innovation, Agricultural Productivity and Sustainability in Australia OECD,2015-08-04 Australia s agriculture and food industries are well placed to contribute to the economy s future growth given the robust prospects of global food demand and the continuing high international competitiveness of these sectors Improving the Environmental Performance of Agriculture Policy options and market approaches OECD,2001-08-27 Explores how agricultural policy can be designed to not only serve agricultural and economic objectives but also environmental ones
