Walking Through Social Research Charlotte Bates, Alex Rhys-Taylor, 2017-04-11 As an ethnographic method walking has a long history but it has only recently begun to attract focused attention By walking alongside participants researchers have been able to observe experience and make sense of a broad range of everyday practices At the same time the idea of talking and walking with participants has enabled research to be informed by the landscapes in which it takes place By sharing conversations in place and at the participants pace sociologists are beginning to develop both a feel for and a theoretical understanding of the transient embodied and multisensual aspects of walking The result as this collection demonstrates is an understanding of the social world evermore congruent with people's lived experiences of it This interdisciplinary collection comprises a unique journey through a variety of walking methodologies The collection highlights a range of possibilities for enfolded sound smell emotion movement and memory into our accounts illustrating the sensuousness skill pitfalls and rewards of walking as a research practice Each chapter draws on original empirical research to present ways of walking and to discuss the conceptual practical and technical issues that walking entails Alongside feet on the ground the devices and technologies that make up hybrid research mobilities are brought to attention The collection is bookended by two short pedestrian essays that take the reader on illustrative urban walks suggesting routes through the city as well as ways in which the reader might make their own path through walking methods An innovative title Walking Through Social Research will be of interest to undergraduate and postgraduate students researchers and academics who are interested in Sociology Geography Cultural Studies Urban Studies and Qualitative Research Methods networks of knowledge and it connects knowers themselves both to the knowledge they seek and to each other Zurn and Bassett identical twins who write that their book represents the thought of one mind and two bodies harness their respective expertise in the humanities and the sciences to get irrepressibly curious about curiosity Traipsing across literatures of antiquity and medieval science Victorian poetry and nature essays as well as work by writers from a variety of marginalized communities they trace a multitudinous curiosity They identify three styles of curiosity the busybody who collects stories creating loose knowledge networks the hunter who hunts down secrets or discoveries creating tight networks and the dancer who takes leaps of creative imagination creating loopy ones Investigating what happens in a curious brain they offer an accessible account of the network neuroscience of curiosity And they sketch out a new kind of curiosity centric and inclusive education that embraces everyone s curiosity The book performs the very curiosity that it describes inviting readers to participate to be curious with the book and not simply about it Land Healing Dana O'Driscoll,2024-03-28 A
