Air Defense Weapons John Nicholas,1989 Describes the different kinds of air defense weapons used by the United States Army at various times in history including radar anti-aircraft guns and missiles

The V-Weapons Winston Ramsey,2020-04-30 London and southern England has for weeks now been the target of our V1 which is only the first link in a chain of new and strongest German weapons So wrote the editor of Der Adler the house magazine of the Luftwaffe in August 1944 The first of the German V weapons had crashed on English soil two months before in the early hours of June 13 and for the next ten months Britain was subjected to a relentless bombardment from Hitler s Vergeltungswaffen or revenge weapons Beginning with the V1 flying bombs colloquially dubbed in Britain as doodlebugs thousands of which had to be fired from fixed sites in northern France the V2 rocket had the advantage of being mounted on a mobile trailer so it could be launched from any level piece of ground The first pair of over a thousand rockets fired from a street corner in Holland arrived like a double thunderclap on the evening of September 8 Heralding a new form of warfare in which there was no warning and no defense nevertheless huge efforts had been made by the Royal Air Force and US Army Air Forces to blunt the threat of the new supersonic weapon. Based on a formerly classified RAF narrative, this book covers the detailed story from the very first intelligence reports in 1943 through the various counter measures carried out both to mitigate manufacturing and destroy suspected V weapon construction sites. Day by day listings are included covering the locations in Britain where every V1 was either destroyed or where they impacted, plus those for all the V2s. Illustrated with many censored photographs from the period, then and now, comparisons bring history alive to illustrate the passage of time over the intervening years. Cold War Interceptor Dan Sharp, 2020-02-08. The West was stunned when the Soviet Union dropped its first atomic bomb in August 1949, and a year later the Korean War showcased Russia's incredible technological progress in the form of the MiG 15, a fighter capable of besting anything the RAF had to offer at that time. In the wake of the Second World War, funding for the RAF's Fighter Command had fallen away dramatically, but now there was an urgent need for new jet fighters to meet the threat of Russian bombers heading on Britain's top aircraft manufacturers, including Hawker, English Electric, Fairey, Vickers, Supermarine, De Havilland, Armstrong Whitworth, and Saunders Roe, set to work on designing powerful supersonic aircraft with all new guided missile systems capable of meeting a Soviet assault and shooting down high flying enemy aircraft before they could unleash a devastating nuclear firestorm on British soil. The result was some of the largest, heaviest, and most powerful fighter designs the world had ever seen, and a heated debate about whether the behemoths should be built at all, as guided weapons became ever more advanced. This is the story of Britain's secret cold war fighter jet designs, fully illustrated with a host of drawings, illustrations, and photographs. Rising India and China B. R. Deepak, 2025-03-31. This book, part of a two volume exploration, examines the trajectory of Sino Indian relations spanning from the aftermath of the 1962 war in the Himalayas to the growing rivalries in the Indo Pacific. It scrutinizes the decade long diplomatic freeze post 1962, analysing China's propaganda collusion with Pakistan and supporting insurgency in India's northeast. It delves into the rebalancing approaches starting from Rajiv Gandhi's pivotal 1988 China visit to finding an equilibrium with China, and then losing it after three decades owing to widening asymmetries with China, resulting in the crisis of confidence building and a prolonged military standoff in the Western Sector in the aftermath of the Galwan face off. Furthermore, it explores the Indian choices for finding a new equilibrium with China, navigating China's discourse on the Indo Pacific strategy, India's equations with major powers, and makes enquiries into China's military modernization and implications to India in a complex security environment influenced by internal and external factors, economic considerations, and global power dynamics.
