Harper, 1989 The book is derived from a symposium prompted by the growing concern for air quality in homes offices and schools and the need for better design of investigations about indoor air quality problems and solutions Numerous chemical and physical factors influence the indoor concentrations of contaminants The multiplicity of these factors makes the investigation design process complex So well conceived designs and protocols form a crucial starting point for successful measurement programs Design of a study relates to developing a general strategy or approach protocols refers to specific procedures to be followed in conducting a study This document aims to provide information on designs and protocols used in different types of indoor air quality monitoring studies and to supply learning opportunities through shared experience International Commercial Arbitration and the Arbitrator's Contract Emilia Onyema, 2010-04-05 This book examines the formation nature and effect of the arbitrator's contract addressing topics such as the appointment challenge removal and duties and rights of arbitrators disputing parties and arbitration institutions The arguments made in the book are based on a semi autonomous theory of the juridical nature of international arbitration and a contractual theory of the legal nature of these relationships From these premises the book analyses the formation of the arbitrator's contract in both ad hoc and institutional references It also examines the institution's contract with the disputing parties and its effect on the arbitrator's contract under institutional references The book draws from national arbitration laws and institutional rules in various jurisdictions to give a global view of the issues examined in it The arbitrator's contract is analysed from a global perspective of arbitral law and practice with insights from various jurisdictions in Africa Asia Europe North and South America The primary focus of the book is an analysis of the formation of the arbitrator's contract and the terms of this contract and the institution's contract The primary question of the consequences if any of the breaches of the terms of these contracts and its impact on the exclusion or limitation of liability of arbitrators and institutions is also analysed with the conclusion that since these transactions are contractual and the terms can be categorised as in any normal contract then normal contractual remedies can be applied to the breaches of these terms International Commercial Arbitration and the Arbitrator's Contract will be of great value to arbitration practitioners and researchers in arbitration It will also be very useful to students of arbitration on the topics of arbitrators and arbitration

handbook will help make that process more efficient and effective It begins with a guide to how the human body and senses react to different indoor environmental conditions together with basic information on the parameters of the indoor environment and problems that can occur It then moves on to give a background to the development of the study and control of the indoor environment examining the main considerations including thermal lighting indoor air and sound related aspects for a healthy and comfortable indoor environment and discussing the drivers for change in the field The final section presents a new approach towards health and comfort in the indoor environment where meeting the wishes and demands of the occupants with a holistic strategy becomes the over riding priority The book is filled with useful facts figures and analysis and practical methods that designers who are keen to assess and improve the user experience of their buildings will find invaluable

Consequences of Combinatorial Studies of Positive Electrodes for Li-ion Batteries Eric McCalla, 2014-04-11 Li Co Mn Ni oxides have been of extreme interest as potential positive electrode materials for next generation Li ion batteries Though many promising materials have been discovered and studied extensively much debate remains in the literature about the structures of these materials There is no consensus as to whether the lithium rich layered materials are single phase or form a layered layered composite on the few nanometer length scales Much of this debate came about because no phase diagrams existed to describe these systems under the synthesis conditions used to make electrode materials Detailed in this thesis are the complete Li Co Mn O and Li Mn Ni O phase diagrams generated by way of the combinatorial synthesis of mg scale samples at over five hundred compositions characterized with X ray diffraction Selected bulk samples were used to confirm that the findings are relevant to synthesis conditions used commercially The results help resolve a number of points of confusion and contradiction in the literature Amongst other important findings the compositions and synthesis conditions giving rise to layered layered nano composites are presented and electrochemical results are used to show how better electrode materials can be achieved by making samples in the single phase layered regions
