Air and Sea Power in World War I Maryam Philpott,2020-04-30 The Great War tore the fabric of Europe apart killing over 35 million men and challenging the notion of heroism in war Air and Sea Power in World War I focuses on the experience of World War I from the perspective of British pilots and sailors themselves to demonstrate that the army centric view of war studies has been too limited The Royal Flying Corps created in 1912 adapted quickly to the needs of modern warfare driven by the enthusiasm of its men In contrast the lack of modernisation in the Royal Navy despite the unveiling of HMS Dreadnought in 1906 undermined Britain s dominance of the seas By considering five key aspects of the war experience this book analyses how motivation was created and sustained What training did men receive and how effectively did this prepare them for roles that were predominantly non combative How was motivation affected by their individual relationship with weaponry development and how different was defensive service on the Home Front when in close proximity to ordinary civilian life Finally Air and Sea Power in World War I looks at the changing reputation of the services during and after the conflict and the extent to which these notions were created by the memoirs of pilots and sailors Featuring new primary source material including the journals of service men themselves this book will be essential reading for students and scholars of World War I and of Naval Aviation and Military History New Serial Titles ,1991 Nuclear Safety ,1988
