

An aerial photograph of a city, likely Los Angeles, with a large, dark silhouette of a commercial aircraft overlaid. The aircraft is oriented vertically, with its nose pointing towards the top of the frame. The city's layout, including highways and green spaces, is visible beneath the aircraft's outline. The title 'AIRCRAFT STORIES' is written vertically in a bold, sans-serif font along the right side of the aircraft's fuselage.

Herrmann, Carolin Alice Hofmann, Katja Kanzler, Stefan Schubert, Frank Usbeck, 2015-04-22 This volume proposes the poetics of politics as an analytic angle to interrogate contemporary cultural production in the United States As recent scholarship has observed American literature and culture around the turn of the millennium while still deeply informed by the textual self consciousness of postmodernism are marked by a rekindled interest in matters of social concern This revived interest in politics is frequently read as a grand epochal transition Sidestepping such a logic of periodization this book points to the interplay between the textual and the political as a dynamic always locally specific that affords unique insights into the characteristics of the contemporary moment The sixteen case studies in this book explore this interplay across a wide range of media genres and modes Together they make visible a broad cultural concern with negotiating social relevance and textual self awareness that permeates and structures contemporary US popular culture The New Spatiality of Security Caroline M. Croser, 2010-11-01 This book provides a rigorous critical analysis of how the US military operates in Iraq exploring the spatial practices of violence Contemporary critical analyses of the United States involvement in Iraq and Afghanistan emphasise the hegemonic nature of the US military experience while conventional military analyses focus on fixed categories such as counter insurgency or network centric warfare Drawing on fieldwork examining the use of a new command and control technology by 1st Cavalry Division US Army in 2004 2005 this book elaborates a more nuanced understanding of US military violence by exploring the changing and sometimes incoherent spatial practices through which violence was exercised The author combines fieldwork with a spatial vocabulary of violence from the work of Michel Foucault Henri Lefebvre and Gilles Deleuze and Félix Guattari and methodological inspiration from the micro observations of material semiotics in Science and Technology Studies to conclude that the US Army's experience in Iraq has been neither as circumscribed nor as easily defined as critical theorists and conventional military analysts alike would suggest This innovative book will be of much interest to students of critical security studies strategic studies military studies social and spatial theory and IR in general Caroline M Croser is a Lecturer in Politics at the University of New South Wales at the Australian Defence Force Academy where she teaches defence studies Human-Machine Reconfigurations Lucille Alice Suchman, 2007 Publisher description Communicating Science and Technology in Society Ana Delicado, Fabienne Crettaz Von Roten, Katarina Prpić, 2020-11-22 This volume addresses the engagement between science and society from multiple viewpoints At a time when trust in experts is being questioned misinformation is rife and scientific and technological development show growing social impact the volume examines the challenges in involving the public in scientific debates and decisions It takes into account societal needs and concerns in research and analyses the interface between the roles of institutions and individuals From environmental challenges to science communication participatory technological design to animal experimentation and transdisciplinarity to norms and values in science the volume brings together research on areas in which scientists and citizens interact across diverse often understudied socio cultural contexts in Europe It encompasses the natural sciences engineering and the social sciences and the chapters follow diverse theoretical frameworks and methodologies including both quantitative and qualitative approaches This volume contributes not just to scholarly knowledge on the topic of science and society relations but also provides useful information for students policy makers journalists and STEM science technology engineering and mathematics researchers keen on engaging with their publics and conducting responsible research and innovation
