AgriScience, 1993 Transforming Agriculture and Foodways David Goodman, 2024-09-10 A wave of innovation driven by the convergence of digital and molecular technologies is transforming food production and ways of eating in the US Western Europe and Australasia This book explores a range of contemporary agri food issues such as the digitalisation of farm production aka Precision Agriculture farmer independence gene editing alternative proteins and the rise of app based home food deliveries This is the first book to provide a systemic analysis of technological innovation and its socio economic consequences in modern food systems including the hollowing out of rural communities and pronounced industrial concentration The food system is under growing public pressure to respond to global climate change but this book finds little evidence of transition to sustainable low carbon trajectories Preparing Agriculture and Agriscience Educators for the Classroom Thoron, Andrew C., Barrick, R. Kirby, 2022-06-24 The preparation of school based agriculture teachers has been a part of public education for over 100 years However there is a lack of texts available that address the components of teacher education in agriculture including teacher preparation and related activities Further study that goes beyond concepts to include practice and applications is required in order to further develop educators in this sector Preparing Agriculture and Agriscience Educators for the Classroom provides an up to date consideration of the best practices for developing and enhancing a complete teacher preparation program and highlights and showcases concepts and applications It is a mainstay for teacher education and teacher preparation in agriculture and is applicable anywhere in the world where teaching agriculture exists Covering a range of topics such as field experiences and student learning this reference work is ideal for researchers scholars practitioners academicians administrators instructors and students Titans of Industrial Agriculture Jennifer Clapp, 2025-02-18 How a small handful of giant transnational corporations has come to dominate the farm inputs sector why it matters and what can be done about it Every year hundreds of billions of dollars worth of farm machinery fertilizer seeds and pesticides are sold to farmers around the world Although agricultural inputs are a huge sector of the global economy the lion s share of that market is controlled by a relatively small number of very large transnational corporations The high degree of concentration among these agribusiness titans is striking considering that just a few hundred years ago agricultural inputs were not even marketed goods In Titans of Industrial Agriculture Jennifer Clapp explains how we got from there to here outlining the forces that enabled this extreme concentration of power and the entrenchment of industrial agriculture Clapp reveals that the firms that rose to the top of these sectors benefited from distinct market technology and policy advantages dating back a century or more that enabled them to expand their businesses through mergers and acquisitions that made them even bigger and more powerful These dynamics matter because the firms at the top have long shaped industrial farming practices that in turn have generated enormous social ecological and health impacts on the planet and the future of food systems Beyond analyzing how these problems have arisen and manifested the book examines recent efforts to address corporate power and dominance in food systems and assesses the prospects for change Among the first works to examine deep roots of corporate power in agriculture Titans of Industrial Agriculture helps illuminate just how corporate actors have encouraged the lock in of industrial agriculture despite all its known social and ecological costs
