Civil Society, Participatory Governance, and Decent Work Objectives Konstantinos Papadakis,2006 The present study presents the findings of an in depth research project carried out at the International Institute for Labour Studies from 2002 to 2005 designed to better understand how civil society organizations working within participatory governance structures may contribute to the goals of the ILO decent work agenda The author examines the South African experience Since the mid 1990s South Africa has become a centre of innovation in public policy making and implementation and it is hard to find a country in either the developed or developing world that has gone further in the institutionalization of participatory policy making processes in a range of different fields This study focuses on three areas all relevant to the decent work agenda Employment creation and poverty alleviation health care and HIV AIDS and child labour and examines the participatory processes set up at the national level in order to formulate and implement policies in these areas It draws on both a literature review and the perceptions of key policy actors active in these three areas Supportive Care in Cancer Patients Hans-Jörg Senn,Agnes Glaus,Luzius Schmid,2012-12-06 The symposium on supportive care in cancer patients which took place in St Gallen Switzerland on February 18 21 1987 welcomed renowned experts in the field and more than 600 participants from 25 countries with the aim of stimulating discussion on how to improve our professional skills and personal attitudes to ward cancer patients in all stages of their disease Why did we organize such a symposium on supportive care in cancer patients Recent decades have witnessed remarkable success in cancer treatment and we have learned how to cure a finite number of neoplastic diseases Some malignant tumors that previously entailed high fatality rates such as leukemias lymphomas and testicular cancers can now be cured even when at an advanced stage Yet it seems to many that our struggle to improve results and to fight death from cancer has also imposed greater toxicity on patients Conventional scientifically based oncology has only recently made adequate efforts to improve the subjective quality of life of cancer patients for example through prophylaxis against emesis nausea and scalp hypothermia pain control and the development of psychosocial support structures The search for less toxic and yet equally effective treatment measures has not been one of our primary goals in the past Supportive care has always been part of nurses professional aim even though many have not known how best to offer it Essays on Gödel's Reception of Leibniz, Husserl, and Brouwer Mark van Atten,2014-11-21 This volume tackles Gödel's two stage project of first using Husserl's transcendental phenomenology to reconstruct and develop Leibniz monadology and then founding classical mathematics on the metaphysics thus obtained The author analyses the historical and systematic aspects of that project and then evaluates it with an emphasis on the second stage The book is organised around G del s use of Leibniz Husserl and Brouwer Far from considering past philosophers irrelevant to actual systematic concerns G del embraced the use of historical authors to frame his own philosophical perspective The philosophies of Leibniz and Husserl define his project while Brouwer s intuitionism is its principal foil the close affinities between phenomenology and intuitionism set the bar for G del s attempt to go far beyond intuitionism The four central essays are Monads and sets On the philosophical development of Kurt G del G del and intuitionism and Construction and constitution in mathematics The first analyses and criticises G del s attempt to justify by an argument from analogy with the monadology the reflection principle in set theory It also provides further support for G del s idea that the monadology needs to be reconstructed phenomenologically by showing that the unsupplemented monadology is not able to found mathematics directly The second studies G del s reading of Husserl its relation to Leibniz monadology and its influence on his published writings The third discusses how on various occasions Brouwer s intuitionism actually inspired G del s work in particular the Dialectica Interpretation The fourth addresses the question whether classical mathematics admits of the phenomenological foundation that G del envisaged and concludes that it does not The remaining essays provide further context The essays collected here were written and published over the last decade Notes have been added to record further thoughts changes of mind connections between the essays and updates of references

Psychology of Learning and Motivation ,1991-12-02

Psychology of Learning and Motivation Changing the Course of Autism Bryan Jepson,Jane Johnson,2007-05-11 Describes autism as an epidemic examines its potential causes and argues that it can be treated as a medical disease rather than a behavioral disorder discussing specific treatments FAR/AIM 2002 ,2005
