Centuries Of Great Preaching:

20 Centuries of Great Preaching, 1971 20 Centuries of Great Preaching, 1971 The Thirteenth: Greatest of Centuries James Joseph Walsh, 1970-01-01 Of all the epochs of effort after a new life that of the age of Aquinas Roger Bacon St Francis St Louis Giotto and Dante is the most purely spiritual the most really constructive and indeed the most truly philosophic The whole thirteenth century is crowded with creative forces in philosophy art poetry and statesmanship as rich as those of the humanist Renaissance And if we are accustomed to look on them as so much more limited and rude it is because we forget how very few and poor were their resources and their instruments In creative genius Giotto is the peer if not the superior of Raphael Dante had all the qualities of his three chief successors and very much more besides It is a tenable view that in inventive fertility and in imaginative range those vast composite creations the Cathedrals of the Thirteenth Century in all their wealth of architectural statuary painted glass enamels embroideries and inexhaustible decorative work may be set beside the entire painting of the sixteenth century Albert and Aquinas in philosophic range had no peer until we come down to Descartes nor was Roger Bacon surpassed in versatile audacity of genius and in true encyclopaedic grasp by any thinker between him and his namesake the Chancellor In statesmanship and all the qualities of the born leader of men we can only match the great chiefs of the Thirteenth Century by comparing them with the greatest names three or even four centuries later Now this great century the last of the true Middle Ages which as it drew to its own end gave birth to Modern Society has a special character of its own a character that gives it an abiding and enchanting interest We find in it a harmony of power a universality of endowment a glow an aspiring ambition and confidence such as we never find in later centuries at least so generally and so permanently diffused The Thirteenth Century was an era of no special character It was in nothing one sided and in nothing discordant It had great thinkers great rulers great teachers great poets great artists great moralists and great workmen It could not be called the material age the devotional age the political age or the poetic age in any special degree It was equally poetic political industrial artistic practical intellectual and devotional And these qualities acted in harmony on a uniform conception of life with a real symmetry of purpose Indexes to 20 Centuries of Great Preaching, 1971 20 Centuries of Great Preaching: Indexes, 1971 20 Centuries of Great Preaching: John Henry Newman Clyde E. The 21st Century Great Awakening Edward T. Holliday,2007 The energy power and purpose for a cogent revival and a 21st century great awakening are found in John 17 21 Even today Jesus prays for us to be unified as the Body of Christ As all Christians are called to be ambassadors for Christ we must present to the world actions for which the spiritually dead will know that we are Christians by our love Though theologies and styles of worship will be different we must lift up the name of Jesus proclaim the Good News and work intentionally for racial and denominational unity These actions are the witness that Jesus proclaims will allow the world to believe that he is the King of kings and the Lord of lords It is time to let the city on a hill shine Back cover
