16 Messages For An Election Year Lowell Messerschmidt, 1992 When election year rolls around it's almost as certain as death and taxes Political candidates hit the campaign trail in droves making endless appearances both in person and on the airwaves as they pitch themselves and their platforms to voters Meanwhile media pundits dissect the candidates carefully crafted strategies But what if Jesus were running for office how would he appeal to voters In this series of 16 messages based on texts from the four gospels and Acts Lowell Messerschmidt takes readers on the campaign trail with Jesus from the announcement of his candidacy to voting day Messerschmidt examines Jesus platform the guiding principles of his ministry and notes that Jesus openly shared it throughout his campaign Unlike any political party however Jesus never announced his campaign strategy until his last days on earth When his strategy finally was revealed it appeared that Jesus faced crushing defeat But the initial vote tally was wrong after his resurrection Jesus was declared the winner by those who know him by faith Chapters include Jesus Announces His Platform Jesus Campaign Strategy Jesus Whistlestop Campaign Concerning the Church Concerning Possessions and Money Matters How Do You Vote and 10 more Lowell Messerschmidt is a retired pastor and Wisconsin native who served congregations in the United Methodist Church He graduated from North Central College the University of Wisconsin and Evangelical Theological Seminary
