The Overthrow of the Orleanist Monarchy

[Page 559]

Robinson's Note: The provisional government established in Paris after the mob had attacked the Tuilleries, February 24, 1848, immediately issued the following proclamation.

In the name of the French people:

A reactionary and oligarchical government has just been overthrown by the heroism of the people of Paris. That government has fled, leaving behind it a trail of blood that forbids it ever to retrace its steps.

The blood of the people has flowed as in July; but this time this noble people shall not be deceived. It has won a national and popular government in accord with the rights, the progress, and the will of this great and generous nation.

A provisional government, the result of pressing necessity and ratified by the voice of the people and of the deputies of the departments, in the session of February 24, is for the moment invested with the task of assuring and organizing the national victory. It is composed of Messieurs Dupont (de l'Eure), Lamartine, Cremieux, Arago (of the Institute), Ledru-Rollin, Garnier-Pages, Marie, Armand Marrast, Louis Blanc, Ferdinand Flocon, and Albert (a workingman).

These citizens have not hesitated a moment to accept the patriotic commission which is imposed upon them by the pressure of necessity. With the capital of France on fire, the justification for the present provisional government must be sought in the public safety. All France will understand this and will lend it the support of its patriotism. Under [Page 560] the popular government which the provisional government proclaims, every citizen is a magistrate.

Frenchmen, it is for you to give to the world the example which Paris has given to France: prepare yourselves by order and by confidence in your destiny for

O'Leary, MD, 2014-07-31

On December 7 1793 an old man lay motionless at last surrounded by his family rabbis and members of the society who would prepare his body for Jewish burial Sixteen days after he was sentenced to jail his family would go to extraordinary efforts to bury him in a Jewish cemetery ordered destroyed by the French government just two weeks earlier The old man was Cerf Berr of Mdelsheim the tenacious eighteenth century Ashkenazi emancipator of the French Jews Margaret R OLeary MD presents Cerf Berr's life story recognizing his profound contributions to the liberation of the Jews of France While chronicling his incredible journey OLeary not only highlights Cerf Berr's scrupulous honesty and reliability that earned him the deep appreciation of the French Crown but also details how he besieged authorities in both Strasbourg and Versailles to grant political social and economic equality for all of his coreligionists in France. Cerf Berr achieved that milestone on September 27, 1791, only to die two years later after imprisonment by sadistic French revolutionaries. Cerf Berr of Melsheim is the biography of a man who was faithful to his people, sought the good for the community, and cherished justice all while making a momentous contribution to the history of France and the Jews. Senate Documents, Otherwise Publ. as Public Documents and Executive Documents United States. Congress. Senate, 1854 Atlantic History in the Nineteenth Century Niels Eichhorn, 2019-11-01 This book argues that a vibrant ever-changing Atlantic community persisted into the nineteenth century. As in the early modern Atlantic world, nineteenth-century interactions between the Americas, Africa, and Europe centered on exchange of people, commodities, and ideas. From 1789 to 1914, new means of transportation and communication allowed revolutionaries, migrants, merchants, settlers, and tourists to crisscross the ocean, share their experiences, and spread knowledge. Extending the conventional chronology of Atlantic world history up to the start of the First World War, Niels Eichhorn uncovers the complex dynamics of transition and transformation that marked the nineteenth-century Atlantic world. Forging Freedom Margaret R. O'Leary, 2012 Forging Freedom is the first full-length biography of Cerf Berr of Melsheim, 1726-1793, the formidable eighteenth-century emancipator of the French Jews. His early business providing forage for thousands of horses of the French military garrisoned in Alsace grew into a huge military supply business that earned him the profound respect of French Kings Louis XV and XVI. After receiving his French naturalization papers from Louis XVI as a reward for his service to the French Crown, Cerf Berr worked tirelessly on behalf of his Ashkenazi co-religionists to win their political emancipation in France on September 27, 1791.
