Multimedia Data Hiding Min Wu, Bede Liu, 2013-03-19 The digital information revolution has brought about profound changes in our society and our life New devices and powerful software have made it possible for consumers worldwide to create manipulate share and enjoy the multimedia information Internet and wireless networks offer ubiquitous channels to deliver and to exchange multimedia information for such purposes as remote collaboration distant learning and entertainment With all these advances in multimedia coding and communication technologies over the past decade the major hurdle for allowing much broader access of multimedia assets and deployment of multimedia services no longer lies with bandwidth related issues but with how to make sure that content is used for its intended purpose by its intended recipients The core issue then becomes the development of secure management of content usage and delivery across communication networks Data hiding and digital watermarking are promising new technologies for multimedia information protection and rights management Secondary data can be embedded imperceptibly in digital multimedia signals for a variety of applications including ownership protection authentication access control and annotation Data hiding can also be used to send side information in multimedia communication for providing additional functionalities or for enhancing performance The extraction of the embedded data may or may not need knowledge of the original host media data In addition to imperceptibility robustness against moderate processing such as compression is also an important consideration

Michael Krause, 2005-11-16 Inhaltsangabe Abstract We are facing an increasing bandwidth in the mobile systems and this opens up for new applications in a mobile terminal It will be possible to download record send and receive images and videosequences Even if we have more bandwidth images and video data must be compressed before it can be sent because of the amount of information it contains MPEG 4 and H 263 are standards for compression of video data The problem is that encoding and decoding algorithms are computationally intensive and complexity increases with the size of the video In mobile applications processing capabilities such as memory space and calculation time are limited and optimized algorithms for decoding and encoding are necessary The question is if it is possible to encode raw video data with low complexity Single frames e g from a digital camera can then be coded and transmitted as a video sequence On the other hand the decoder needs to be able to handle sequences with different resolution Thus decoder in new mobile terminals must decode higher resolution sequences with the same complexity as low resolution video requires The work will involve literature studies of MPEG 4 and H 263 The goal is to investigate the possibility to encode video data with low complexity and to find a way for optimized downscaling of larger sequences in a decoder The work should include Literature studies of MPEG 4 and H 263 Theoretical study how CIF sequences 352x288 pixel can be downscaled to QCIF 176x144 pixel size Finding of optimized algorithms for a low complexity encoder Implementation of such an encoder in a microprocessor e g a DSP Complexity analysis of processing consumption Prerequisite experience is fair C programming signalprocessing skills and basic knowledge in H 263 and MPEG 4 is useful New mobile communication standards provide an increased bandwidth which opens up for many new media applications and services in future mobile phones Video recording using the MMS standard video conferencing and downloading of movies from the Internet are some of those applications Even if the data rate is high video data needs to be compressed using international video compression standards such as MPEG 4 or H 263 Efficient video compression algorithms are the focus of this thesis Very limited computational capabilities of the terminals require low complexity encoder and decoder A low complexity encoder for usage with Digital Watermarking and Steganography are flying through cyberspace to their respective owners Unfortunately along the way individuals may choose to intervene and take this content for themselves Digital watermarking and steganography technology greatly reduces the instances of this by limiting or eliminating the ability of third parties to decipher the content that he has taken The many techniques of digital watermarking embedding a code and steganography hiding information continue to evolve as applications that necessitate them do the same The authors of this second edition provide an update on the framework for applying these techniques that they provided researchers and professionals in the first well received edition Steganography and steganalysis the art of detecting hidden information have been added to a robust treatment of digital watermarking as many in each field research and deal with the other New material includes watermarking with side information QIM and dirty paper codes The revision and inclusion of new material by these influential authors has created a must own book for anyone in this profession This new edition now contains essential information on steganalysis and steganography New concepts and new applications including QIM introduced Digital watermark embedding is given a complete update with new processes and applications

Multi Modality State-of-the-Art Medical Image Segmentation and Registration Methodologies Ayman S. El-Baz, Rajendra Acharya U, Majid Mirmehdi, Jasjit S. Suri, 2011-05-04 With the advances in image guided surgery for cancer treatment the role of image segmentation and registration has become very critical The central engine of any image guided surgery product is its ability to quantify the organ or segment the organ whether it is a magnetic resonance imaging MRI and computed tomography CT X ray PET SPECT Ultrasound and Molecular imaging modality Sophisticated segmentation algorithms can help the physicians delineate better the anatomical structures present in the input images enhance the accuracy of medical diagnosis and facilitate the best treatment planning system designs The focus of this book is towards the state of the art techniques in the area of image segmentation and registration Document and Image Compression Mauro Barni, 2018-10-08 Although it is true that image compression research is a mature field continued improvements in computing power and image representation tools keep the field spry Faster processors enable previously intractable compression algorithms and schemes and certainly the demand for highly portable high quality images will not abate Document and Image Compression highlights the current state of the field along with the most probable and promising future research directions for image coding Organized into three broad sections the book examines the currently available techniques future directions and techniques for specific classes of images It begins with an introduction to multiresolution image representation advanced coding and modeling techniques and the basics of perceptual image coding This leads to discussions of the JPEG 2000 and JPEG LS standards lossless coding and fractal image compression New directions are highlighted that involve image coding and representation paradigms beyond the wavelet based framework the use of redundant dictionaries the distributed source coding paradigm and novel data hiding techniques The book concludes with techniques developed for classes of images where the general purpose algorithms fail such as for binary images and shapes compound documents
