humdinger of a situation if you're stacking what I'm chopping. Things are tense in the fictional northern Vermont resort town of Rosefield. A subtle cold war brews between multigenerational Vermonters and the flatties that is tourists and other outsiders. The precarious status quo is shattered when a never-do-well ski bum is found dead on the mountain with a knife protruding from his chest. It's up to salt-of-the-earth Sheriff Peggy McStoots to track down the killer. Vermont native Owen Curvelo fills his debut murder mystery with more than 100 illustrations from artist Katya Strasburger beginning with a detailed map of Rosefield Mountain Resort tagline Bring Your Buds. The world of Rosefield and its colorful inhabitants comes to vivid life in these images from small ones that break up the text to full-page stills. In addition to artistic renderings, Murder Mountain is chock-full of Vermont references. Example: Twentysomething skier Joey Rogers rocks out to fictional band the Rutland Rotary Boys whose singer Seth Alltheway and guitarist Hector Yacoven might well be allusions to Vermont's real-life blues-rock all-star Seth Yacovone. Jordan Adams of Seven Days Here's an excerpt of Jane Reech tending Rosefield Resort's bar the Bent Pole. Plenty of unfamiliar faces stopped in as well. Flatties upon flatties which should've added dimension but nope. The rebrand brought them to Rosefield. Jane asked one couple with an overwhelmingly flat appearance, "Why are you here?" she questioned after delivering them two pints of Bacon We ordered. "Started the male. A drink I don't know how to make." Jane tapped her fingers on the bar. Answer the question. Uh, stammered the female. We wanted a vacation with more excitement. Finished the male. Honey, she's part of the Murder Mountain act. Play along. Oh, I was scared for a moment. How thrilling. Jane stomped away before she slapped a flatty. She questioned several others whose responses only increased her frustration. My hubby and I skied a Magic Mountain, a Presidential Mountain, Buttermilk Powder, and Bald Mountains. Never a Murder Mountain. Flat. I'm a murder mystery writer here for research. Flatter. We're spiritualist skiers. We carve with the dead. Flattest. Jane felt her backhand tighten up. Could she keep herself contained? She almost flew over the bar at a custy wearing his jeans tucked into ski boots, a helmet mounted MyView, and a twenty-year-old pad of wickets. But when he dropped a twenty-dollar tip, Jane forgave all those offenses. Actually, despite their vertical challenges, most of the flatties tipped well. Maybe she should share this chair. Here's an excerpt of Peggy McStoots speaking with the State Trooper Commander about the murder investigation. Hi, Bob. He was barely visible behind his shiny oak desk covered in framed achievement awards. Peggy sat in the opposing over-cushioned chair. Hi, Peggy. Bob removed his wide-framed glasses and cleaned them with his green Statie uniform. Your troopers are finally using my proper title. Who, Cassie? Bob laughed. She's a rule-follower. I don't care if the folks in Rosefield want to call you sheriff. I never asked for the title, but they've used it since the day I started. I've always liked Sheriff McStoots. Although Sheriff Strongman is a little stronger. Peggy sighed. She had dated Bob when they attended Enosburg High School together, a mistake she still regretted. Forty years, a marriage, and three daughters later, Bob thought some chemistry remained between them. About the autopsy report, I have it. Bob tapped a folder on his desk. How about I tell you what's inside? Peggy considered grabbing the folder and stomping out, but she risked offending him. Then Bob might order
