Creating Religious Childhoods in Anglo-World and British Colonial Contexts, 1800-1950 Hugh Morrison, Mary Clare Martin, 2017-01-20 Drawing on examples from British world expressions of Christianity this collection further greater understanding of religion as a critical element of modern children's and young people's history It builds on emerging scholarship that challenges the view that religion had a solely negative impact on nineteenth and twentieth century children or that secularization is the only lens to apply to childhood and religion Putting forth the argument that religion was an abiding influence among British world children throughout the nineteenth and most of the twentieth centuries this volume places religion at the center of analysis and discussion At the same time it positions the religious factor within a broader social and cultural framework The essays focus on the historical contexts in which religion was formative for children in various British settings denoted as Anglo or colonial during the nineteenth and early to mid twentieth centuries These contexts include mission fields churches families Sunday schools camps schools and youth movements Together they are treated as sites in which religion contributed to identity formation albeit in different ways relating to such factors as gender race disability and denomination The contributors develop this subject for childhoods that were experienced largely but not exclusively outside the metropole in a diversity of geographical settings By extending the geographic range even within the British world it provides a more rounded perspective on children s global engagement with religion

Adolescence, Discrimination, and the Law Roger J.R. Levesque,2017-05 Explores the shifts and the research used to support civil rights claims of discrimination particularly relating to minority youths rights to equal treatment In the wake of the civil rights movement the legal system dramatically changed its response to discrimination based on race gender and other characteristics It is now showing signs of yet another dramatic shift as it moves from considering difference to focusing on neutrality Rather than seeking to counter subjugation through special protections for groups that have been historically and currently disadvantaged the Court now adopts a colorblind approach Equality now means treating everyone the same way This book explores these shifts and the research used to support civil rights claims particularly relating to minority youths rights to equal treatment It integrates developmental theory with work on legal equality and discrimination showing both how the legal system can benefit from new research on development and how the legal system itself can work to address invidious discrimination given its significant influence on adolescents especially those who are racial minorities at a key stage in their developmental life Adolescents Discrimination and the Law articulates the need to address discrimination by recognizing and enlisting the law s inculcative powers in multiple sites subject to legal regulation ranging from families schools health and justice systems to religious and community groups The legal system may champion ideals of neutrality in the goals it sets itself for treating individuals but it cannot remain neutral in the values it supports and imparts This volume shows that despite the shift to a focus on neutrality the Court can and should effectively foster values supporting equality especially among youth Civil Rights Journal ,1997
