Designing Social Systems in a Changing World Bela H. Banathy, 1996-12-31 This book offers resources and programs by which individuals groups and organizations can learn to create a common ground collectively define values and qualities they seek to realize envision ideal images of a desired future and bring those images to life by engaging in the disciplined inquiry of social systems design

Water for a Changing World - Developing Local Knowledge and Capacity Guy Alaerts, Nicolas Dickinson, 2008-12-10 This collection of papers represents the outcomes of the International Symposium held in Delft The Netherlands on June 13 15 2007 at the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the UNESCO IHE Institute for Water Education The papers discuss how to contribute to the sustainability of effective international development and water management with a digest

Grasping the Changing World Vaclav Hubinger, 2002-09-11 As different societies merge into one global society and face the concomitant crisis of identity of purpose and interest social anthropology urgently needs to bring its methodology up to date new methods are needed to analyse compare and understand different cultures across space and time Grasping the Changing World collects papers read at the second biannual EASA conference in Prague in 1992

The conference took place in an extraordinary postmodern setting With the fall of communist regimes in Central and Eastern Europe old certainties and time honoured concepts had become obsolete at the same time anthropology too was in upheaval and long established patterns of thought seemed inadequate to grasp the rapidly changing realities These doubts and tensions are reflected in this collection The first half of Grasping the Changing World focuses on ways of conceptualising modelling and perceiving the present while the second half reassesses the theoretical strength or otherwise of social anthropology as a modern science Combining methodological rigour and originality this collection will make invaluable reading for all students of social anthropology sociology and politics and its methodology as it is applied to the comparison and understanding of societies across space and time

Building Community George Manning, Kent Curtis, Steve McMillen, 1996

Water in a Changing World World Water Assessment Programme (United Nations), 2009 The United Nations World Water Development Report published every three years is a comprehensive review providing an authoritative picture of the state of the world's freshwater resources It offers best practices as well as in depth theoretical analyses to help stimulate ideas and actions for better stewardship in the water sector It is the only report of its kind resulting from the collaboration and contributions of the 26 UN agencies commissions program funds secretariats and conventions that have a significant role in addressing global water concerns The news media are full of talk of crises in climate change energy and food and troubled financial markets These crises are linked to each other and to water resources management Unresolved they may lead to increasing political insecurity and conflict Water is required to meet our fundamental needs and rising living standards and to sustain our planet's fragile ecosystems Pressures on the resource come from a growing and mobile population social and cultural change economic development and technological change Adding complexity and risk is climate change with impacts on the resource as well as on the sources of pressure on water The challenges though substantial are not insurmountable The Report shows how some countries have responded Progress in providing drinking water is heartening with the Millennium Development Goal target on track in most regions But other areas remain unaddressed and after decades of inaction the problems in water systems are enormous and will worsen if left unattended Leaders in the water sector can inform decisions outside their domain and manage water resources to achieve agreed socioeconomic objectives and environmental integrity Leaders in government the private sector and civil society determine these objectives and allocate human and financial resources to meet them Recognizing this responsibility they must act now Two volume set 336 96 pages case studies Includes CD ROM Published jointly with UNESCO Publishing

Shaping Film Festivals In a Changing World Dorota Ostrowska, Tamara Falicov, 2025-10-01 This volume is a collective attempt on the part of a community of academics film festival curators and archivists to come to terms with practical and intellectual challenges of the pandemic and post pandemic realities affecting cultures of film festivals The collection draws contours of critical inquiry orienting current film festival research and practice to explore new directions in archiving and decolonizing practices and big data analysis in the post Covid 19 context and beyond The four part study gathers the voices of academics and practitioners who engage in a dialogue to articulate critical areas for both study and practice of film festivals and identifies conceptual tools to address them Archival Turn Decolonizing Film Festival Studies Post Covid 19 and Film Festival Studies and Data Visualization and Film Festival Research and Practice

Transforming Agricultural Education for a Changing World National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Life Sciences, Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources, Committee on a Leadership Summit to Effect Change in Teaching and Learning, 2009-11-16 During the next ten years colleges of agriculture will be challenged to transform their role in higher education and their relationship to the evolving global food and agricultural enterprise If successful agriculture colleges will emerge as an important venue for scholars and stakeholders to address some of the most complex and urgent problems facing society Such a transformation could reestablish and sustain the historical position of the college of agriculture as a cornerstone institution in academe but for that to occur a rapid and concerted effort by our higher education system is needed to shape their academic focus around the reality of issues that define the world's systems of food and agriculture and to refashion the way in which they foster knowledge of those complex systems in their students Although there is no single approach to transforming agricultural education a commitment to change is imperative
