Creating Unequal Futures Rethinking Poverty Inequality And Disadvantage:

Creating Unequal Futures? Peter Saunders, 2020-08-02 This is an important and powerful book because of the rigour of the analysis the good sense of the innovative strategies for action by government business and civil society and the concern throughout for social justice John Langmore Director UN Division for Social Policy and Development One in six Australian kids live below the poverty line Among the twenty five leading industrialised countries Australia has the fifth highest child poverty rate This is a useful if stark indicator of the extent of long term disadvantage in this country Creating Unequal Futures brings together eight of Australia's leading social scientists to introduce the reader to the processes which create and sustain persistent patterns of poverty and disadvantage Although the contributors use different approaches their research leads to a united call for a rethinking away from the prevailing gloom and doom presentations of Australian material life They signal pathways out of the dilemmas that bind people to poverty and disadvantage If followed those pathways will guide us to a future characterised by less inequality If ignored we may further entrench patterns of disadvantage and risk creating unequal futures for all Australians

Structural Equation Modeling in Educational Research, 2009-01-01 Over the years researchers have developed statistical methods to help them investigate and interpret issues of interest in many discipline areas These methods range from descriptive to inferential to multivariate statistics As the psychometrics measures in education become more complex vigorous and robust methods were needed in order to represent research data efficiently One such method is Structural Equation Modeling SEM SEM is a statistical technique that allows the simultaneous analysis of a series of structural equations It also allows a dependent variable in one equation to become an independent variable in another equation It is a comprehensive statistical approach to testing hypotheses about relations among observed and latent variables SEM is commonly known as causal modeling or path analysis which hypothesizes causal relationships among variables and tests the causal models with a linear equation system As educational research questions become more complex they need to be evaluated with more sophisticated tools The pervasive use of SEM in the literature has shown that SEM has a potential to be of assistance to modern educational researchers This book will bring together prominent educators and researchers from around the world to share their contemporary research on structural equation modeling in educational settings The chapters provide information on recent trends and developments and effective applications of the different models to answer various educational research questions This book is a critical and specialized source that describes recent advances in SEM in international academia

The Lowest Rung Mark Peel, 2003-07-24 This 2003 book examines the impact of economic rationalism on members of the poorest parts of Australian society

The Cambridge Handbook of Social Sciences in Australia Ian McAllister, Steve Dowrick, Riaz Hassan, 2003-08-07 First published in 2003 The Cambridge Handbook of Social Sciences in Australia is a high quality reference on significant research in Australian social sciences The book is divided into three main sections covering the central areas of the social sciences economics political science and sociology Each section examines the significant research in the field placing it within the context of broader debates about the nature of the social sciences and the ways in which institutional changes have shaped how they are defined taught and researched The Poverty Wars Peter Saunders, 2005 Argues that as a nation Australia can afford to eliminate financial poverty The fact we don't do so is a matter of choice not affordability as the experience of other countries demonstrates

Demography at the Edge Rasmus Ole Rasmussen, Prescott Ensign, Lee Huskey, 2016-05-23 Addressing the methodological and topical challenges facing demographers working in remote regions this book compares and contrasts the research methods and models and policy applications from peripheral regions in developed nations With the emphasis on human populations as dynamic adaptive evolving systems it explores how populations respond in different ways to changing environmental cultural and economic conditions and how effectively they manage these change processes Theoretical understandings and policy issues arising from demographic modelling are tackled including competition for skilled workers urbanisation and ruralisation population ageing the impacts of climate change the life outcomes of Indigenous peoples globalisation and international migration Based on a strong theoretical framework around issues of heterogeneity generational change temporariness and the relative strength of internal and external ties Demography at the Edge provides a common set of approaches and issues that benefit both researchers and practitioners Schooling the Rustbelt Kids Pat Thomson, 2020-08-04 A truly exceptional book Michael W Apple University of Wisconsin Madison A gripping insight into the local struggles facing disadvantaged schools and a compelling account of the injustice of their place in the bigger picture Professor Geoff Whitty Director Institute of Education University of London Schools in disadvantaged areas are struggling in the current economic and political environment Like schools everywhere they are being asked to do more with less but they face more obstacles In recent years education policy has shifted from a holistic approach to learning to a focus on narrow educational outcomes spelling reading and writing Thomson shows that this approach penalises disadvantaged schools and argues that educational and social disadvantage are inextricably linked in children's everyday lives Examining primary and secondary schools in disadvantaged areas in a post industrial rustbelt city Schooling the Rustbelt Kids reopens the debate about inequality in schooling It provides concrete evidence that typical government policies in the Western world are not working and that they are helping to create a permanent underclass Thomson outlines an alternative whole of government approach to policy which builds on those school programs that do make a real difference to educational outcomes Thomson also emphasises the influence of local geography Schools are coloured by particular neighbourhoods permeated by national and global events and tangled in complex networks of social relations Interventions which work in one school may not work in others Community and Local Governance in Australia Paul Smyth, Tim Reddel, Andrew Jones, 2005 This book examines the resurgence in Australia of locality based social policy concerned with the spatial dimensions of disadvantage after the political failures of the market oriented approach to regional reform The book proposes that these trends are leading to a new post competition policy regime in Australia that mirrors global policy trends Law, Corporate Governance and Partnerships at Work Richard Mitchell, Anthony O'Donnell, Shelley Marshall, Ian Ramsay, Meredith Jones, 2016-04-22 This book examines how businesses manage their labour systems and particularly how they manage the complex interaction of factors which give rise to instances of partnership style relations between businesses and their employees The book draws from the literature concerning Varieties of Capitalism VoC and the different institutional and regulatory designs inherent in different types of political economy The book is informed by a new and extensive set of empirical data from Australia that examines the activities of national and multinational business corporations their outlooks and relationships with stakeholders and relates these to new and evolving theoretical frameworks based in political economy and law The book places the Australian regulatory model within this international debate and assesses the extent to which the system does or does not fit into the general categorisation created in the VoC literature The Ends and Means of Welfare Peter Saunders, 2002-08-13 This book first published in 2002 explores the relation between economic liberalism and social policy in Australia

Understanding the City John Eade, Christopher Mele, 2011-07-15 This cutting edge multi disciplinary analysis looks ahead to the direction which urban studies is likely to take during the twenty first century Migration, Citizenship and Intercultural Relations Michele Lobo, 2016-04-22 Migration Citizenship and Intercultural Relations reflects on the tensions and contradictions that arise within debates on social inclusion arguing that both the concept of social inclusion and policy surrounding it need to incorporate visions of citizenship that value ethnic diversity Presenting the latest empirical research from Australia and engaging with contemporary global debates on questions of identity citizenship intercultural relations and social inclusion this book unsettles fixed assumptions about who is included as a valued citizen and explores the possibilities for engendering inclusive visions of citizenship in local national and transnational spaces Organised around the themes of identity citizenship and intercultural relations this interdisciplinary collection sheds light on the role that ethnic diversity can play in fostering new visions of inclusivity and citizenship in a globalised world Learning from the Margins Julie McLeod, Andrea C Allard, 2013-02-01 This collection of ground breaking international essays address the educational social work and biographical experiences of young women who are routinely constructed as at risk and on the margins Drawing on research from an international range of scholars this book brings together important new perspectives on the gendered dimensions of social exclusion and educational marginalisation It offers practitioners as well as researchers insights into how to research social marginalisation and reflections on projects and programmes that have attempted to do so Chapters investigate key topics such as early school leaving indigenous young women and schooling pregnant and parenting young women at school constructions of health subjectivity and social class the politics of ethnicity Provocative and insightful this book will make interesting reading to students and post graduate students of education youth studies gender studies sociology and social work Government and Democracy in Australia Ian Cook, 2004 Government and Democracy in Australia takes the opposition between politics understood as government and democracy as its underlying theme. It examines a variety of factors that affect politics in Australia such as globalization, the media and the internet as well as the basic aspects of Australian politics that must be addressed in a first year text. Rethinking Social Work in a Global World Gai Harrison, Rose Melville, 2009-11-30. This text offers a comprehensive overview of the key aspects of globalisation, their impact on social work and the resulting challenges in practice. The authors draw on post colonialism to consider the global issues facing social work such as mass migration and the ways in which social workers can respond to such difficulties.

Indigenous Futures Tim Rowse, 2002. In the public debate about the success or failure of Australia's Indigenous policies, opinions have been grounded more often in personal experience than in social scientists' research. This work asks: What vision of the good life should guide an assessment of policy? Challenging Global Inequality Alastair Greig, David Hulme, Mark Turner, 2007-01-16. This major introductory text, written by 3 leading names in the field, provides an accessible overview of the challenges faced in overcoming global poverty and inequality in the 21st century. Through an in-depth assessment of development theory and practice, the authors set out to advance two key arguments: the first being the importance of historically contextualizing contemporary developmental problems in order to assess policy proposals, and the second that inequality matters and how this notion has continually remained a central feature of development debates from colonial times to present day. Ideal for undergraduate students taking development modules as part of political science and international relations degrees, this engaging text proves to be essential reading when exploring the impacts of development on today's international political economy. With each chapter covering inequalities from all different angles, the authors clearly outline the impact of models such as globalization and neoliberalism, as well as offering alternative views on the challenges posed by the UN's Millennium Development Goals. From Conflict to Crisis Jeanne M. Haskin, 2012. The rich understand that capitalism is a game of musical chairs. It's systemic class warfare conducted on a grand scale to discourage solidarity across lines that might otherwise threaten the system, and with each market reset arranged by the Federal Reserve, more of the country's resources fall into wealthy hands. Examining what happens when a society favors old money over new and breaks all the rules to make the world safe for finance, author Jeanne Haskin predicts increasing volatility and violence in the United States if we do not significantly change course. For a preview of what lies ahead for the U.S., the author takes us for a quick exemplary trip through Central America. A society that is reared on competition will face unsettling challenges to authority if it doesn't set certain functions outside the arena of battle via systematic enrichment of the affluent minority that has always had the power to topple and ruin the system. Today's preoccupation with America's revolutionary history is not just a piece of theater. At the heart of America's outrage is an inability to lash out and demand redemption from the source of its distress because the pain is inflicted not by hatred but by the fundamental lack of stability built into our way of life Now that a fifth of the population is suffering job loss foreclosures or exclusion from employment due to prejudice poor credit a lack of skills or education a glut of competition and insufficient opportunity the failure to provide for the helpless majority means the system is at an impasse Because the system can't or won't perform the Tea Party's rise was preemptive with all its implied violence and real American theater as the means to channel our anger into voting out Obama so reform can proceed unimpeded with all its inherent dangers After reviewing some foreign examples that erupted in the environments of colonialism and post colonialism neoliberalism militarism and oligarchies the author filters through the head spinning social and political noise that stands in for responsible debate in America today Ms Haskin's richly documented essay sees a bonfire prepared as social tensions are increased and inter group pressures are encouraged to mount So much for One nation The New Inheritors Madeleine Mattarozzi

Laming, 2012-12-20 This groundbreaking book examines why the majority of Australian school leavers want to go to university and have resisted government attempts to promote alternative forms of tertiary education The New Inheritors explores differences in young people's understanding of the purpose of university and their reasons for wanting to enrol The book reveals that although there has been a general shift in values towards the utilitarian perspective there is still significant support for the traditional liberal idea of university education as a cultural experience This support is concentrated in well educated families regardless of their financial resources but there is a substantial number of young people from less well educated families who have absorbed the liberal perspective The book begins with an extensive and unique overview of changes in Australian federal government tertiary education policy and changes in the public discourse on education This overview provides a framework against which differences among today's students are examined in detail Drawing on a study of over 200 secondary school students from diverse backgrounds The New Inheritors records their attitudes to university including access fees and the role of government and explores how these are formed by their family backgrounds and influenced by public policy on education The New Inheritors uncovers the complexity of young people's attitudes and what processes occur in the forming and reforming of those attitudes to university and what young people really want from university education Dr Madeleine Mattarozzi Laming is a Lecturer in Education at Australian Catholic University She has given numerous conference papers on transition from school to university and teaching students from diverse backgrounds In 2011 she received an Australian Learning and Teaching Council Citation for an outstanding contribution to student learning particularly at the first year Australian Cities Clive A. Forster, 2004 Australian Cities Continuity and Change 3rd edition examines the changing nature of Australia's major cities from a geographical perspective and discusses current issues in urban policy It considers the evolution and ongoing development of Australian cities in response to economic social and technological forces This theme of change is balanced by an awareness of continuity as our urban environments remain heavily influenced by previous eras The new edition of this successful book is fully revised and updated and includes new material on environmental sustainability and an increased coverage of transport issues A new chapter on the impact of recent global changes on Australian cities is essential reading for anyone interested in the changing nature of our environment The book contains the latest data from the 2001 census and all maps and diagrams have been fully updated Examples are drawn from all the mainland state capitals in order to identify the issues currently facing Australian cities Fully revised and updated to include the latest data including 2001 census information New chapter that examines the impact of globalisation on Australian cities Expanded chapter on environmental sustainability More on transport issues All maps diagrams tables and statistics fully updated Many new photographs Proven Features Comprehensive introduction to Australian cities Further reading and internet references for each chapter
