Kercher, 2010-06-15 We live in a time much like the postwar era A time of arch political conservatism and vast social conformity A time in which our nation's leaders question and challenge the patriotism of those who oppose their policies But before there was Jon Stewart Al Franken or Bill Maher there were Mort Sahl Stan Freberg and Lenny Bruce liberal satirists who through their wry and scabrous comedic routines waged war against the political ironies contradictions and hypocrisies of their times Revel with a Cause is their story Stephen Kercher here provides the first comprehensive look at the satiric humor that flourished in the United States during the 1950s and early 1960s Focusing on an impressive range of comedy not just standup comedians of the day but also satirical publications like MAD magazine improvisational theater groups such asSecond City the motion picture Dr Strangelove and TV shows like That Was the Week That Was Kercher reminds us that the postwar era saw varieties of comic expression that were more challenging and nonconformist than we commonly remember His history of these comedic luminaries shows that for a sizeable audience of educated middle class Americans who shared such liberal views the period s satire was a crucial mode of cultural dissent For such individuals satire was a vehicle through which concerns over the suppression of civil liberties Cold War foreign policies blind social conformity and our heated racial crisis could be productively addressed A vibrant and probing look at some of the most influential comedy of mid twentieth century America Revel with a Cause belongs on the short list of essential books for anyone interested in the relationship between American politics and popular culture Living-Room War Michael J. Arlen, 1997-10-01 One doesn t have to be a panjandrum of Communications to realize that television does something to us Michael Arlen former TV critic of The New Yorker writes in the Introduction to Living Room War He continues Television has a transforming effect on events It has a transforming effect on the people who watch the transformed events it s just hard to know what that is Living Room War is Arlen's valiant and entertaining attempt to figure out exactly what exactly television does to us This timeless collection of essays provides a poetic look at 1960s television culture ranging from the Vietnam war to Captain Kangaroo from the 1968 Democratic convention to televised sports The Future Without a Past John Paul Russo, 2005 Argues that technological imperatives like rationalization universalism monism and autonomy have transformed the humanities and altered the relation between humans and nature Examines technology and its impact on education historical memory and technological and literary values in criticism and theory concluding with an analysis of the fiction of Don DeLillo Provided by Storytellers to the Nation Tom Stempel, 1996-05-01 Jam packed with hundreds of anecdotes and quotes from in publisher depth interviews with over forty television writers this is the first comprehensive history of writing for American television These writers tell often in wonderfully funny tales of their experiences working with and often fighting with the networks the censors the sponsors the producers and the stars in trying to create shows Critiquing the Sitcom Joanne Morreale, 2002-12-01 This is the first anthology that examines the TV sitcom in terms of its treatment of gender family class race and ethnic issues The selections range from early shows such as I Remember Mama George Lipsitz s Why Remember Mama The Changing Face of a Woman's Narrative to the more recent Roseanne Kathleen Rowe Karlyn's Roseanne Unruly Woman as a Domestic Goddess The volume also looks unflinchingly at major controversies for example the NAACP boycott of the stereotypical yet wildly popular Amos n Andy and the queer reading of Laverne and Shirley These diverse essays constitute a veritable history of postwar American mores Some are classic some forgotten but all indicate the importance of considering text and subtext social historic industrial in the critical study of television A final chapter by Joanne Morreale bids sitcoms adieu with the cultural spectacle of Seinfeld's last episode The West Wing Peter C. Rollins, John E. O'Connor, 2003-04-01 Informed by historical scholarship and media analysis this book takes a critical look at the award winning show from a wide range of perspectives Media scholars Peter C Rollins and John E O Connor make an important contribution to the field with an eclectic mix of essays which translate the visual language of the onscreen politics of the series Literary Culture in a World Transformed William Paulson, 2018-08-06 Literary studies are in danger of being left behind in the twenty first century Print culture risks becoming a thing of the past in the multimedia age meanwhile human life and society are undergoing rapid changes as a result of new technologies the intensification of global capitalism and the effects of human actions on the environment In this transformed world William Paulson argues for a radical renewal of literary studies Modern literary culture has defined itself in opposition to science politics and commerce as a protected sphere of democratic and free inquiry but today that autonomy may lead to isolation from the real dynamics of cultural and global change Paulson clearly and convincingly demonstrates the need for literary studies to embrace both the unfashionable literary past and the technologically saturated future and to train not a countersociety of cultural critics but citizens of the world who can communicate the irreducible strangeness and multiplicity of literature to a society on hyperdrive His series of concrete proposals ranging from a closer connection between literature and everyday language to the restructuring of undergraduate and graduate education will immeasurably enrich current discussions of the humanities role in the life of the Ready or Not Kay S. Hymowitz, 2008-06-30 Children today grow up so fast How often we hear those words uttered both in frustrated good humor and in dumbfounded astonishment Every day the American people hear about kids doing things both good and bad that were once thought to be well beyond their scope flying airplanes running companies committing mass murder Creatures of the information age today s children sometimes seem to know more than their parents They surf the Internet rather than read books they watch South Park instead of The Cosby Show they wear form fitting capri pants and tank tops instead of sundresses in short they are sophisticated beyond their years. These facts lead us to wonder Is childhood becoming extinct In Ready or Not Kay S Hymowitz offers a startling new interpretation of what makes our children tick and where the moral anomie of today s children comes from She reveals how our ideas about childrearing itself have been transformed perniciously in reponse to the theories of various experts educators psychologists lawyers media executives who have encouraged us to view children as small adults autonomous actors who know what is best for themselves and who have no need for adult instruction or supervision Today's children and teenagers have been encouraged by their parents and teachers to function as individuals to such an extent that they make practically every decision on their own what to wear what to study and even what values they will adhere to The idea of childhood as a time of limited competence in which adults prepare the young for maturity has fallen into disrepute independence has become not the reward of time but rather something that our children have come to expect and demand at increasingly younger ages One of the great ironies of turning our children into small adults is that American society has become less successful at producing truly mature men and women When sophisticated children do grow up they often find themselves unable to accept real adult responsibilities. Thus we see more people in their twenties and thirties living like children unwilling to embark on careers or to start families Until we recognize that children are different from grownups and need to be nurtured as such Hymowitz argues our society will be hollow at its core
