Crafting Identity Pavel Shlossberg, 2015-06-11 Crafting Identity goes far beyond folklore in its ethnographic exploration of mask making in central Mexico In addition to examining larger theoretical issues about indigenous and mestizo identity and cultural citizenship as represented through masks and festivals the book also examines how dominant institutions of cultural production art media and tourism mediate Mexican arte popular which makes Mexican indigeneity digestible from the standpoint of elite and popular Mexican nationalism and American and global markets for folklore The first ethnographic study of its kind the book examines how indigenous and mestizo mask makers both popular and elite view and contest relations of power and inequality through their craft Using data from his interviews with mask makers collectors museum curators editors and others Pavel Shlossberg places the artisans within the larger context of their relationships with the nation state and Mexican elites as well as with the production cultures that inform international arts and crafts markets In exploring the connection of mask making to capitalism the book examines the symbolic and material pressures brought to bear on Mexican artisans to embody and enact self racializing stereotypes and the performance of stigmatized indigenous identities Shlossberg s weaving of ethnographic data and cultural theory demystifies the way mask makers ascribe meaning to their practices and illuminates how these practices are influenced by state and cultural institutions Demonstrating how the practice of mask making negotiates ethnoracial identity with regard to the Mexican state and the United States Shlossberg shows how it derives meaning value and economic worth in the eyes of the state and cultural institutions that mediate between the mask maker and the market The American Indian Craft Book Marz Minor, 1978-01-01 Historical information and descriptions of Indian crafts of different tribes Crafting An Asian Future In The Post-covid-19 Asia Tai Wei Lim, 2022-10-11 Not too long ago the world was busy crafting a global future with unmitigated globalization and the relentless march of Industry 4.0 A black swan event then happened An outbreak of COVID 19 coronavirus surged worldwide and resulted in a global pandemic that devastated economies eliminated the weak infirmed elderly young and then targeted the general population It destroyed small and medium sized enterprises and hastened the demise of sunset industries resulting in record numbers of bankruptcies Instead of succumbing to the despair of a worldwide cataclysmic event a group of Asian scholars from multiple disciplines got together This group of scholars put their different specializations to use and adopted an on site viewpoint perspective of how the pandemic affected their lives and also the lives of the communities in their studies to contribute to this volume The volume is interdisciplinary by nature and a product of exceptional contributions from a multidisciplinary panel of scholars ranging from anthropologists sociologists historians to economists The interdisciplinary approach employed here allows one to look at and understand subject matter critically COVID 19 and its recovery not just through diverse analytical frameworks but also through broader historical variations as well as technologies studies There is no existing literature equivalent to this subject matter given the ongoing pandemic as it unfolds simultaneously across regions and even continents while exerting differential impacts on various sectors such as agriculture religion technology etc With the advantage of its interdisciplinary approaches examined in differing geographical locations in Asia the volume makes a scholarly contribution to analyzing the COVID 19 pandemic outbreak and the coping mechanisms adopted by humankind in various capacities to mitigate it
