Creating Boundaries The Politics Of Race And Nation:

Creating Boundaries Kathryn A. Manzo, 1996 This work analyses common conceptions about the relationship or lack of one between race and nationalism Case studies of Australia Britain and South Africa are provided The author has also written Domination Resistance and Social Change in South Africa The Local Effects of Global Power Race, Nation, and Citizenship in Postcolonial Africa Ronald Aminzade, 2013-10-31 Nationalism has generated violence bloodshed and genocide as well as patriotic sentiments that encourage people to help fellow citizens and place public responsibilities above personal interests This study explores the contradictory character of African nationalism as it unfolded over decades of Tanzanian history in conflicts over public policies concerning the rights of citizens foreigners and the nation's Asian racial minority These policy debates reflected a history of racial oppression and foreign domination and were shaped by a quest for economic development racial justice and national self reliance Spaces of Hate Colin Flint, 2013-10-18 First published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Funk the Clock Rahsaan Mahadeo, 2024-05-15 Funk the Clock is about those said to be emblematic of the future yet denied a place in time Hence this book is both an invitation and provocation for Black youth to give the finger to the hands of time while inviting readers to follow their lead In revealing how time is racialized how race is temporalized and how racism takes time Rahsaan Mahadeo makes clear why conventional sociological theories of time are both empirically and theoretically unsustainable and more importantly why they need to be funkyed up with Through his study of a youth center in Minneapolis Mahadeo provides examples of Black youth constructing alternative temporalities that center their lived experiences and ensure their worldviews tastes and culture are most relevant and up to date In their stories exists the potential to stretch the sociological imagination to make the familiar i e time strange Funk the Clock forges new directions in the study of race and time by upending what we think we know about time while centering Black youth as key collaborators in rewriting knowledge as we know it Namibia Godfrey Mwakikagile, 2015 The author looks at how Namibia was founded as a German colony known as Deutsch S dwestafrika German South West Africa and how it evolved into a nation He explains how it was founded on brutal suppression of the indigenous people including extermination of large numbers of some groups and how on becoming a colony of South Africa its people continued to be subjected to brutal treatment by the white minority rulers who denied them racial equality The author also focuses on the liberation struggle against apartheid and how the country won independence from apartheid South Africa He also looks at how the leaders of the new nation are trying to build the country and construct a national identity on the basis of unity in diversity It is an analysis of identity formation at the national level and consolidation of the state whose relevance is continental in scope studies of other African countries in their quest for unity and construction or reconstruction of their national identities during the post colonial era can benefit from this work It is also a work of comparative analysis in terms of nationhood in the African context and how Namibia and Tanzania two case studies have sought to construct their national identities the obstacles they have faced and continue to face in the quest for national unity especially in the case of Namibia and why Tanzania has been more successful than most countries on the continent in building a cohesive society where tribalism is virtually non-existent enabling it to consolidate its unity and national identity The author also looks at the concept of national character and its relevance to national identity formation and why the national identities of different African countries are weak and what can be done to address the problem It is also an introductory text which may be helpful to some people who are going to Namibia for the first time although it is essentially a scholarly work intended for members of the academic community and specialists in some fields dealing with this southwest African country and its people But members of the general public who want to learn more about Namibia may also find the book to be useful

Race and Nation Paul Spickard, 2005-07-08 Race and Nation is the first book to compare the racial and ethnic systems that have developed around the world It is the creation of nineteen scholars who are experts on locations as far flung as China Jamaica Eritrea Brazil Germany Punjab and South Africa The contributing historians sociologists anthropologists political scientists and scholars of literary and cultural studies have engaged in an ongoing conversation honing a common set of questions that dig to the heart of racial and ethnic groups and systems Guided by those questions they have created the first book that explores the similarities differences and the relationships among the ways that race and ethnicity have worked in the modern world In so doing they have created a model for how to write world history that is detailed in its expertise yet also manages broad comparisons

International Social Science Journal, 2008 Canadian Review of Studies in Nationalism, 1999 The SAGE Handbook of Nations and Nationalism Gerard Delanty, Krishan Kumar, 2006-06-14 With its list of distinguished contributors and its wide range of topics the handbook is surely destined to become an invaluable resource for all serious students of nationalism Michael Billig Professor of Social Sciences at Loughborough University and author of Banal Nationalism SAGE 1995 The persistence some would say revival of nationalism across the recent history of modernity in particular the past two decades has taken many scholars in the social sciences by surprise In response interest in the analysis of nationalism has increased and given rise to a great variety of new angles under which to study the phenomenon What was missing in the cacophony of voices addressing nationalism was a volume that brought them together and confronted them with each other This handbook does just that It deserves particular praise for the wide range of approaches and topics included and for the systematic attempt at studying nationalism as a phenomenon of our time not a remnant from the past Peter Wagner Professor of Social and Political Theory European University Institute and Professor of Sociology University of Warwick For students concerned with the contemporary study of nationalism this will be an invaluable publication The three fold division into approaches themes and cases is a very solid and sensible one The editors have commissioned essays from leading scholars in the field and this handbook provides the best single volume overview of contemporary nationalism John Breuilly Professor of Nationalism and Ethnicity London School of Economics Nationalism has long excited debate in political social and cultural theory and remains a key field of enquiry among historians anthropologists sociologists as well as political scientists It is also one of the critical media issues of our time There are however surprisingly few volumes that bring together the best of this intellectual diversity into one collection This Handbook gives readers a critical survey of the latest theories and debates and provides a glimpse of the issues that will shape their future Its three sections guide the reader through the theoretical approaches to this field of study its major themes from modernity to memory migration and genocide and the diversity of nationalisms found around the globe The overall aim of this Handbook is to relate theories and debates within and across a range of disciplines illuminate themes and issues of central importance in both historical and contemporary contexts and show how nationalism has impacted upon and interacted with other political and social forms and forces This book provides a much needed resource for scholars in international relations political science social theory and sociology

Ethnic Boundary Making Andreas Wimmer,2013-02-07 Introducing a new comparative theory of ethnicity Andreas Wimmer shows why ethnicity matters in certain societies and contexts but not in others and why it is sometimes associated with inequality and exclusion with political and public debate with closely held identities while in other cases ethnicity does not structure the allocation of resources invites little political passion and represent secondary aspects of individual identity

Encyclopedia of Race, Ethnicity, and Society Richard T. Schaefer,2008-03-20 This encyclopedia offers a comprehensive look at the roles race and ethnicity play in society and in our daily lives Over 100 racial and ethnic groups are described with additional thematic essays offering insight into broad topics that cut across group boundaries and which impact on society

Racism, the City and the State Malcolm Cross,Michael Keith,2013-01-11 Does the concept of ethnicity divide the oppressed or unite minorities Is the term community a dangerous fiction What are the relations between the liberal capitalist democratic state and racialized minority groups The contributors to this book confront and discuss these questions bringing together ideas on urban social theory contemporary cultural change and analysis of racial subordination in order to explore the relationship between racism the city and the state The book concentrates on the urban context of the process of racialization demonstrating that the city provides the institutional framework for racial segregation a key process whereby racialization has been reproduced and sustained Individual chapters explore the profound divisions inscribed on the face of the city showing for example that ethnicity is more powerful than social class in moulding the identities of new migrants to California and that the reconstruction of French capitalism has opened new opportunities for the growth of right wing popularism The contributors show how in the UK urban space over the last two decades has been redefined and reconstructed in ways which sustain separation and racial inequality and they highlight how black minorities struggling for survival in Britain s cities are seen as responsible for violence crime poverty and overcrowding

National Identity and the Conflict at Oka Amelia Kalant,2004-06 Through readings of literature canonical history texts studies of museum displays and media analysis this work explores the historical formation of myths of Canadian national identity and then how these myths were challenged and affirmed during the 1990 standoff at Oka It draws upon history literary criticism anthropology studies in nationalism and ethnicity and post colonial theory      National Colors Mara Loveman,2014 National Colors analyzes the politics and practices of official ethnoracial classification in the censuses of nineteen Latin American countries over nearly two centuries It shows that in addition to domestic politics the ways that states classify their citizens are strongly influenced by shifting international criteria for how to construct modern nations and promote national development      Sport and Nationalism in Ireland Mike Cronin,1999 This book examines the development of a nationalist agenda within Irish sport and searches for a definition of nationalism in this context The question of what Irish nationalism is and what forces shape it has stretched the minds of generations of Irish historians and political scientists For some the answer has been found within the realms of political history while others have examined how the cultural impact of Irish literature and drama has shaped nationalism These genres relied on elites be they political or literary within Irish society to understand the evolution of nationalist thinking and the operation of nationalism as an ideal Sport offers a new way of looking at nationalism as it offers mass consumed low culture as a vehicle Since the foundation of the Gaelic Athletic Association GAA in 1884 through to the current popularity of soccer sporting events have been played by tens of thousand and watched by hundreds of thousands of Irish people both at home and as part of the diaspora This means that sport has a greater resonance and meaning for the experience of the multitude of the Irish in stark contrast to the operation of Dublin centred politics and literature This book defines sporting nationalism through the experience of Gaelic games and soccer as examples of mass spectator sport The choice of a mass spectator sport which a nation chooses to support will demonstrate the perceived place of that nation within the world and the trends prevalent within its society thereby intrinsically defining the state of its nationalism      Natives Making Nation Andrew Canessa,2011-08-01 In Bolivia today the ability to speak an indigenous language is highly valued among educated urbanites as a useful job skill but a rural person who speaks a native language is branded with lower social status Likewise chewing coca in the countryside spells inferior indian but in La Paz jazz bars it s decidedly cool In the Andes and elsewhere the commodification of indianness has impacted urban lifestyles as people co opt indigenous cultures for qualities that emphasize the uniqueness of their national culture This volume looks at how metropolitan ideas of nation employed by politicians the media and education are produced reproduced and contested by people of the rural Andes people who have long been regarded as ethnically and racially distinct from more culturally European urban citizens Yet these peripheral natives are shown to be actively engaged with the idea of the nation in their own communities forcing us to re think the ways in which indigeneity is defined by its marginality The contributors examine the ways in which numerous identities racial generational ethnic regional national gender and sexual are both mutually informing and contradictory among subaltern Andean people who are more likely now to claim an allegiance to a nation than ever before Although indians are less often confronted with crude assimilationist policies they continue to face racism and discrimination as they struggle to assert an identity that is more than a mere refraction of the dominant culture Yet despite the language of multiculturalism employed even in constitutional reform any assertion of indian identity is likely to be resisted By exploring topics as varied as nation building in the 1930s or the chuqila dance these authors expose a paradox in the relation between indians and the nation that the nation can be claimed as a source of power and distinct identity while simultaneously making some types of national imaginings unattainable Whether dancing together or simply talking to one another the people described in these essays are shown creating identity through processes that are inherently social and interactive To sing to eat to weave In the performance of these simple acts bodies move in particular spaces and contexts and do so within certain understandings of gender race and nation Through its presentation of this rich variety of ethnographic and historical contexts Natives Making Nation provides a finely nuanced view of contemporary Andean life

Ethnic Relations and Nation-Building in Southeast Asia Leo Suryadinata,2004 Ethnic racial relations have been a perennial theme in Southeast Asian studies Current events have highlighted the tensions among ethnic groups and the need to maintain ethnic racial harmony for national unity This book analyses ethnic race relations in Singapore Malaysia and Indonesia with special reference to the roles of ethnic Chinese in nation building It brings together a group of established Southeast Asian scholars to critically examine some of the important issues such as ethnic politics nation building state policies and conflict resolution These scholars of different ethnic origins present their own ethnic perspectives and hence make the book unique This is the most up to date book on ethnic racial relations with special reference to the ethnic Chinese in three Southeast Asian countries
