It unsettles established dichotomies in Rabelaisian scholarship between Rabelais's lowly laughter and his high erudite message and reassesses the Rabelaisian grotesque by highlighting its debts to grotesque ornament, this marginal yet omnipresent Renaissance visual art. Bodily functions are a trademark of Rabelais's poetics. Scholarship has read them as signs of carnivalesque inversion in line with the Bakhtinian grotesque or of satirical degradation. In both instances the lowly is opposed to the high, the belly to the head. Yet for a physician like Rabelais the head or the brain as the site of cognition is not opposed to what is below it, the chest as the site of breathing, the belly and its nether regions as sites of nutrition and

Black Robes and Buckskin Catharine Randall, 2011 The Jesuits approached the task of converting the native peoples and the formidable obstacles it implied in a flexible manner One of their central values was inculturation the idea of coming in by their door to quote a favorite saying of Ignatius via a creative process of syncretism that blended aspects of native belief with aspects of Christian faith in order to facilitate understanding and acceptance The Relations thus abound with examples of the Jesuits thoughtfully trying to make sense of native and female difference rather than eliding it

Autobiographical Writing by Early Modern Hispanic Women Elizabeth Teresa Howe, 2016-04-08 Women's life writing in general has too often been ignored dismissed or relegated to a separate category in those few studies of the genre that include it The present work addresses these issues and offers a countervailing argument that focuses on the contributions of women writers to the study of autobiography in Spanish during the early modern period There are indeed examples of autobiographical writing by women in Spain and its New World empire evident as early as the fourteenth century Memorias penned by Doña Leonor López de Córdoba and continuing through the seventeenth century Cartas of Sor Juana Inés de la Cruz What sets these accounts apart the author shows are the variety of forms adopted by each woman to tell her life and the circumstances in which she adapts her narrative to satisfy the presence of male critics whether ecclesiastic or political actual or imagined who would dismiss or even alter her life story Analyzing how each of these women viewed her life and conversely how their contemporaries both male and female received and sometimes edited her account Howe reveals the tension in the texts between telling a life and telling a lie

Byzantium Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 2004 The fall of the Byzantine capital of

Constantinople to the Latin West in 1204 during the Fourth Crusade abruptly interrupted nearly nine hundred years of artistic and cultural traditions. In 1261 however the Byzantine general Michael VIII Palaiologos triumphantly re entered Constantinople and reclaimed the seat of the empire initiating a resurgence of art and culture that would continue for nearly three hundred years not only in the waning empire itself but also among rival Eastern Christian nations eager to assume its legacy. Byzantium Faith and Power 1261 1557 and the groundbreaking exhibition that it accompanies explores the artistic and cultural flowering of the last centuries of the Empire of the Romans and its enduring heritage. Conceived as the third of a trio of exhibitions dedicated to a fuller understanding of the art of the Byzantine Empire whose influence spanned more than a millennium Byzantium Faith and Power 1261 1557 follows the 1997 landmark presentation of The Glory of Byzantium which focused on the art and culture of the Middle Byzantine era the Second Golden Age of the Byzantine Empire 843 1261. In the late 1970s The Age of Spirituality explored the early centuries of Byzantium's history. The present concluding segment explores the exceptional artistic accomplishments of an era too often considered in terms of political decline. Magnificent works from splendid frescoes textiles gilded metalwork and mosaics to elaborately decorated manuscripts and liturgical objects testify to the artistic and intellectual vigor of the Late and Post Byzantine era. In addition forty magnificent icons from the Holy Monastery of Saint Catherine Sinai Egypt join others from leading international institutions in a splendid gathering of these powerful religious images. While the political strength of the empire weakened the creativity and learning of Byzantium spread farther than ever before. The exceptional works of secular and religious art produced by Late Byzantine artists were emulated and transformed by other Eastern Christian centers of power among them Russia Serbia Bulgaria and Cilician Armenia. The Islamic world adapted motifs drawn from Byzantium's imperial past as Christian minorities in the Muslim East continued Byzantine customs. From Italy to the Lowlands Byzantium's artistic and intellectual practices deeply influenced the development of the Renaissance while in turn Byzantium's own traditions reflected the empire's connections with the Latin West. Fine examples of these interrelationships are illustrated by important panel paintings ceramics and illuminated manuscripts among other objects. In 1557 the Empire of the Romans as its citizens knew it which had fallen to the Ottoman Turks in 1453 was renamed Byzantium by the German scholar Hieronymus Wolf. The cultural and historical interaction and mutual influence of these major cultures the Latin West and the Christian and Islamic East during this fascinating period are investigated in this publication by a renowned group of international scholars in seventeen major essays and catalogue discussions of more than 350 exhibited objects.
