A Pedagogist's Memoir Grant Rodwell, 2025-10-07 Opportunities to write our memoirs are many and varied To meet emerging demands the memoir genre continually is evolving and it is possible for the memoirist to shape the memoirs with varying themes time and settings to be brought to bear on school education at a senior level and for a range of teacher development programs Thus the developing importance of an accompanying exegesis For better or for worse childhoods shape adult relationships and attachment styles profoundly shaping who we are as teachers teaching styles and generally the things we consider important and not so important The shape of our childhood and adolescence has a profound impact on how relationships are formed in adulthood It can affect our ability to trust be vulnerable and create productive bonds both at school and college and professionally and also our general levels of motivation Through the aforementioned theme and subthemes my memoirs here reveal how childhood struggle has shaped my approach to teaching and my academic career from an unskilled labourer from the country working class in the timber industry deprived of a high school education and recruited into the workforce at 15 years of age to a senior academic in one of Australia s G8 universities holding five PhDs With strong historical backgrounding a special appeal of this book is its drive to place childhood and adolescent events contained in the memoirs in a wider historical context looking to transnational movements such as discussions on anachronisms and eugenics In so doing the exegesis a fresh and exciting innovation is in harmony with the memoirs The memoir is so refashioned as a pedagogical tool In Praise of Flattery Willis Goth Regier,2007-11-01 Where would we be without flattery Hobbes deemed it an honorable duty and Meredith called it the finest of the arts Alexander the Great applied it as imperial policy Caesar and Cleopatra were masters of it and Napoleon devoured it like candy But flattery also has influential enemies Cicero called flattery the handmaid of vice and Tacitus compared it to poison In a work as erudite as it is entertaining Willis Goth Regier looks into flattery as an element as flammable and as taken for granted as oxygen Giving flattery light attention and care Regier treats readers to hundreds of historical examples drawn from the highest social circles in politics romance and religion from the courts of Byzantium and China to Paris Rome and Washington DC Because flattery must please it is playful and creative and Regier s book makes the most of it moving with light steps now and then pausing to take in the view Ambitious flatterers even seek to flatter God a practice Regier treats with trepidation This is a book for those who would understand the history tactics and pleasures of flattery not least the thrill of danger O flatter me for love delights in praises Shakespeare The whole World and the Bus ness of it is Manag d by Flattery and Paradox the one sets up False Gods and the other maintains them Sir Roger L Estrange Just praise is only a debt but flattery is a present Samuel Johnson In this disorganized society in which the passions of the people are the sole real force authority belongs to the party that understands how to flatter Hippolyte Taine Autobiographical Writing and Identity in EFL Education Shizhou Yang,2013-09-11 The book explores the pedagogical potential of autobiographical writing in English as a foreign language approaching the topic from an educational longitudinal dialogical and social perspective Through a number of case studies the author delineates four phases that EFL writers may experience in their identity construction processes illustrating the complexity of EFL writers social identities This book will provide a valuable resource for language teachers and researchers interested in the pedagogical applications of autobiographical writing Who Is In the Room? Brooke O'Harra,2024-09-25 With this book Brooke O Harra takes up directing as an artistic practice in and of itself Speaking beyond and against craft O Harra drives the art of directing forward O Harra investigates a series of important questions How do we wrest our work from institutional imperatives of public building and culture building How can an artist driven discourse lead us toward the urgencies of artists and their publics in this moment How do we make plays How do we activate the relationships of making whether between artists in the rehearsal room or between the production and the audience Brooke addresses all aspects of the directorial process reckoning with the script through dramaturgy working within the rehearsal room collaborating with other artists as well as staging and production This exploration will be of great interest to students and scholars in performance studies with a particular interest in directing Biography and Autobiography J.
