Crazy English:

Crazy English Richard Lederer, 2010-05-11 In what other language asks Lederer do people drive on a parkway and park in a driveway and your nose can run and your feet can smell In CRAZY ENGLISH Lederer frolics through the logic boggling byways of our language discovering the names for phobias you didn't know you could have the longest words in our dictionaries and the shortest sentence containing every letter in the alphabet You'll take a bird's eye view of our beastly language feast on a banquet of mushrooming food metaphors and meet the self-reflecting Doctor Rotcod destined to speak only in palindromes

Weird English Evelyn Nien-Ming Ch'ien, 2005-10-31 The third book in the seventh series of the exciting adventure stories that are as gripping as a computer game Great for boys with a huge collectability factor bolstered by the collectors cards in the back of the books and links to an excellent interactive website Evil Wizard Malvel is steering the land of Tavana towards total destruction Tom must stop him by defeating six rampaging Beasts and sending them back to their rightful homes Krestor the Crushing Terror awaits him Don't miss CONVOL THE COLD BLOODED BRUTE HELLION THE FIERY FOE MADARA THE MIDNIGHT WARRIOR ELLIK THE LIGHTNING HORROR CARNIVORA THE WINGED SCAVENGER

China and English Joseph Lo Bianco, Jane Orton, Gao Yihong, 2009-11-26 It has been said there are more Chinese learning English than there are Americans We all have a sense that the first decades of the third millennium including the effects of the global financial recession signal dramatic changes to the shape of the world to come China's emergence as a superpower is one of the few certainties in this rapidly changing world What is less well realised is the critical role which China's decisions about English will play in the world's communication profile This unique volume explores this question looking at the debates on identity cultural values and communication practices Taking a wide ranging view and uniquely blending both Chinese and Western perspectives the volume explores the critically important cultural consequences of mass English learning in today's world

English in the World Philip Seargeant, Joan Swann, 2013-03-01 English in the World History Diversity Change examines the English language as it has developed through history and is used across the globe today The first half of the book outlines the history of the language from its fifth century roots through its development as a national a colonial and now a global language In the second half the focus shifts to the diversity of the language today The book explores varieties of English across the English speaking world as well as English related varieties such as pidgins and creoles It also examines complex processes of variation hybridity and change in English and in the shifting styles of individual speakers Throughout the focus is on the international nature of English and its use alongside other languages in a diverse range of communities Drawing on the latest research and The Open University's wide experience of writing accessible and innovative texts this book explains basic concepts and assumes no previous study of English or linguistics contains a range of source material and commissioned readings to supplement chapters includes contributions from leading experts in their fields including Joan Beal Suresh Canagarajah David Crystal Jonathan Hope Kay McCormick Miriam

Meyerhoff Rajend Mesthrie Robert Podesva and Jennifer Smith has a truly international scope encompassing examples and case studies from the UK and North America Australia and New Zealand Europe Asia and Africa is illustrated in full colour to bring the fascinating study of the English language alive includes a comprehensive index as well as useful appendices showing the historical timeline of English and a brief introduction to the description of linguistic features English in the World History Diversity Change is essential reading for all students of English language studies Of the Students, By the Students, and For the Students Martin Wolff, 2010-10-12 Annually China produces more than 5 million college graduates who have been compelled to study English as a foreign language for 10 to 17 years but graduate functionally illiterate unable to produce comprehensible oral or written English English is taught as a subject required to pass tests and not as a communicative language The problems are identified confirmed by post graduate students and solutions are presented The development and success of a remedial program designed for the collegiate level Holistic English is well documented by the students at top tier and second tier universities as well as 3rd tier and vocational colleges in seven Provinces of China This is a compelling story of a 30 year old failed program that reminds us of Albert Einstein's definition of insanity Doing the same thing over and over again and expecting a different result Teaching English Reading in the Chinese-Speaking World Clay Williams, 2016-04-07 This book investigates inherent structural differences in the Chinese and English writing systems which predispose learners from childhood to develop specific literacy learning strategies which can impair later efforts at learning foreign language literacy if the foreign language script varies significantly from the native language script It compares educational practices and philosophies in Chinese and English speaking classrooms and examines the psychological underpinnings of these literacy learning strategies This book presents psychometric testing of adult reading strategy defaults and examines case study data revealing that Chinese students are susceptible to misapplying Chinese character level processing strategies to English word identification tasks which decreases reading efficiency and ultimately can lead to learning failure Finally a new educational framework is proposed for teaching beginning language specific word identification and literacy learning skills to learners whose first language script varies significantly from that of the target language English as a Lingua Franca in Teacher Education Telma Gimenez, Michele Salles El Kadri, Luciana Cabrini Simões Calvo, 2017-11-07 A lingua franca perspective into English language teaching in Brazil has only recently taken flight As an emerging economy the country faces enormous challenges when it comes to language education in schools where English has traditionally been taught as a foreign language This collection brings the perspectives of academics and language practitioners in their efforts to incorporate an ELF approach into teacher education thus offering a voice sorely missed in the international community interested in developing new approaches to English in a global world Fractured English Richard Lederer, 1996-11 Presents a collection of humorous language errors from newspaper headlines politician's remarks court transcripts insurance forms signs and classified ads Changing Methodologies in TESOL Jane Spiro, 2013-05-20 Introduces core concepts in methods and teaching approaches Covering core topics from vocabulary and grammar to teaching writing speaking and listening this textbook shows you how to link research to practice in TESOL methodology It emphasises how current understandings have impacted on the language classroom worldwide and investigates the meaning of methods and methodology and the importance of these for the teacher as well as the underlying assumptions and beliefs teachers bring to bear in their practice By introducing you to language teaching approaches you will explore the way these are influenced by developments in our understanding of language learning technologies learners and their socio cultural world Three main areas in TESOL methods are covered the impact of learner needs context and culture on language learning and teaching approaches knowledge of language and its impact on methods from the word to whole texts and multiple literacies and competences for the modern world including academic literacy and web literacy socio cultural and intercultural competence The impact on teacher choices and methods of World Englishes approaches to grammar and learner development is also discussed Each chapter illustrates core principles in practice using case studies of English teaching worldwide Guided tasks including article critique case study analysis and small scale classroom research prepare you to engage critically with research literature and use this analysis to inform your own practice

Perspectives Adrian Pablé, 2017-05-18 The present book is a collection of scholarly reflections on the theme of humanism

from an integrational linguistic perspective It studies humanist thought in relation to the philosophy of language and communication underpinning it and considers the question whether being a humanist binds one to a particular view of language The contributions to this volume explore whether integrational linguistics being informed by a non mainstream semiology and adopting a lay linguistic perspective can provide better answers to contentious ontological and epistemological questions concerning the humanist project questions having to do with the self reason authenticity creativity free agency knowledge and human communication The humanist perspectives adopted by the contributors to this volume are critical insofar as they start from semiological assumptions that challenge received notions within mainstream linguistics such as the belief that languages are fixed codes of some kind that communication serves the purpose of thought transfer and that languages are prerequisites for communication

DV-Made China Zhen Zhang, Angela Zito, 2015-05-31 In 1990s post Reform China a growing number of people armed with video cameras poured out upon the Chinese landscape to both observe and contribute to the social changes then underway Happening upon the crucial platform of an older independent film movement this digital turn has given us a DV China that includes film and media communities across different social strata and disenfranchised groups including ethnic and religious minorities and LGBTQ communities DV Made China takes stock of these phenomena by surveying the social and cultural landscape of grassroots and alternative cinema practices after the digital turn around the beginning of the new century The volume shows how Chinese independent amateur and activist filmmakers energize the tension between old and new media performance and representation fiction and non fiction art and politics China and the world Essays by scholars in cinema and media studies anthropology history Asian and Tibetan studies bring innovative interdisciplinary methodologies to critically expand upon existing scholarship on contemporary Chinese independent documentary Their inquiries then extend to narrative feature activist video animation and other digital hybrids At every turn the book confronts digital ironies On the one hand its portability facilitates forms of radically private film production and audience habits of small screen consumption Yet it also simultaneously links up makers and consumers curators and censors allowing for speedier circulation more discussion and quicker formations of public political and aesthetic discourses DV Made China introduces new frameworks in a Chinese setting that range from aesthetics to ethical activism from digital shooting and editing techniques to the politics of film circulation in festivals and online Politics the authors urge travels along paths of aesthetic excitement and aesthetic choices conversely always bear ethical consequences The films their makers their audiences and their distributional pathways all harbor implications for social change that are closely intertwined with the fate of media culture in the new century of a world that both contains and is influenced by China

Kuoshu,2021-04-20 Craziness and Carnival in Neo Noir Chinese Cinema offers an in depth discussion of the stone phenomenon in Chinese film production and cinematic discourses triggered by the extraordinary success of the 2006 low budget film Crazy Stone Surveying the nuanced implications of the film noir genre Harry Kuoshu argues that global neo noir maintains a mediascape of references

borrowings and re workings and explores various social and cultural issues that constitute this Chinese episode of neo noir
Combining literary explorations of carnival postmodernism and post socialism Kuoshu advocates for neo noir as a cultural phenomenon that connects filmmakers film critics and film audiences rather than an industrial genre
