Blinded By The Lies:

In His Voice David Appelbaum, 2016-03-01 In His Voice considers the idea of the neuter in Maurice Blanchot's work and seeks to work out through an exercise of literary impersonation or ventriloquism how and why Blanchot relied on this form. Neither active nor passive, the neuter expresses a kind of third voice beyond the command of the author, one that speaks paradoxically of what lies outside of speaking but nonetheless exerts an irrepressible influence on thought. The neuter is exilic, messianic, and fragmentary. Since it cannot be directly accounted for, Blanchot uses a number of indirect approaches, notably myth, to announce the key elements of his view. Orpheus, Odysseus, and principally Narcissus figure his conception and elaborate the operation of giving voice. Through a distillation of Blanchot's narrative and critical texts focusing on the late works The Step Not Beyond and The Writing of the Disaster and through an emphasis on performance, In His Voice enacts the event of writing in search of how author's inscriptive reality appears in the world. Garçon Jazz Daae Du Bois, 2010-10
Why do I love you so
What is it about you that makes me want to hold onto you
And never let go
Is it your lips your eyes or how you treat me
I don't care what it is
I want you and only you
Why do we have to be so far apart
Can we ever be
I've never felt this way
You make me feel as if I am truly special
The way you touch me here in my heart
No one has ever done that and many people can't

Disability, Space, Architecture: A Reader Jos Boys, 2017-02-17 Disability Space Architecture: A Reader takes a groundbreaking approach to exploring the interconnections between disability, architecture, and cities. The contributions come from architecture, geography, anthropology, health studies, English language and literature, rhetoric and composition, art history, disability studies, and disability arts, and cover personal, theoretical, and innovative ideas and work. Richer approaches to disability beyond regulation and design guidance remain fragmented and difficult to find for architectural and built environment students, educators, and professionals. By bringing together in one place some seminal texts and projects as well as newly commissioned writings, readers can engage with disability in unexpected and exciting ways that can vibrantly inform their understandings of architecture and urban design. Most crucially, Disability Space Architecture: A Reader opens up not just disability but also ability/disability as a means of refusing the normalisation of only particular kinds of bodies in the design of built space. It reveals how our everyday social attitudes and practices about people, objects, and spaces can be better understood through the lens of disability and it suggests how thinking differently about disability can enable innovative and new kinds of critical and creative architectural and urban design education and practice.
