Handbook of Japanese Christian Writers Mark Williams, Van Gessel, Yamane Michihiro, 2025-10-01 Although a century and a half of Christian proselytizing has only led to the conversion of about one percent of the Japanese population the proportion of writers who have either been baptized or significantly influenced in their work by Christian teachings is much higher The seventeen authors examined in this volume have all employed themes and imagery in their writings influenced by Christian teachings Those writing between the 1880s and the start of World War II were largely drawn to the Protestant emphasis on individual freedom though many of them eventually rejected sectarian affiliation Since 1945 on the other hand Catholicism has produced a number of religiously committed authors led by figures such as Endo Shusaku the most popular and influential Christian writer in Japan to date The authors discussed in these essays have contributed in a variety of ways to the indigenization of the imported religion

Incipient Productivity Arne Zeschel, 2012-04-02 How do speakers vary established patterns of language use and adapt them to novel contexts of application This study presents a usage based approach to linguistic creativity combining detailed qualitative with large scale quantitative analyses of corpus data it traces the emergence of partial productivity in clusters of conventional collocations Focusing on English and German intensification constructions it proceeds in three steps having first inventoried the lexical means of a given semantic type that are recruited for signalling intensity in both languages collostructional analysis is then used to identify entrenched intensity collocations involving these formatives in three different syntactic constructions Third multi rater manual classification methods as well as distribution based automatic classification methods are employed to uncover semantic generalisations over the attested types on different levels of abstraction Collocational expansion is shown to proceed through local analogies within sets of semantically similar stored instances of a construction Synthesising insights from research on language acquisition variation and change it is thus argued that creative extensions of linguistic conventions are intrinsically bound up with aspects of memory and repetition
