Blood Simple:

The Films of Joel and Ethan Coen Carolyn R. Russell, 2015-11-17 Filmmaker brothers Joel and Ethan Coen got their start in the independent film business in 1984 with their debut feature Blood Simple which won the award of Best Dramatic Feature at Sundance in 1985 and was hailed as one of the best films of the year by the National Board of Review. Since their early success the Coen Brothers have built a name for themselves and gone on to create other big name movies such as Raising Arizona, Fargo and The Big Lebowski. This book is a comprehensive account of these four films and Miller's Crossing Barton Fink and The Hudsucker Proxy. Production information and in depth analysis and critique are provided as well as discussions on how each movie functions in the broader context of the Coens work and the themes, strategies and motifs often utilized by the Coens.

New York Magazine, 1985-01-21 New York Magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country. With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion, the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea.

Hard-boiled Masculinities Christopher Breu, 2005 The persona of the American male in the period between the two world wars was characterized by physical strength, emotional detachment, aggressive behavior and an amoral worldview. This ideal of a hard boiled masculinity can be seen in the pages and even more vividly on the covers of magazines such as Black Mask which shifted from Victorian influenced depictions of men in top hats and mustaches in the early 1920s to the portrayal of much more overtly violent and muscular men. Looking closely at this transformation, Christopher Breu offers a complex account of how and why hard boiled masculinity emerged during an unsettled time of increased urbanization and tenuous peace and traces the changes in its cultural conception as it moved back and forth across the divide between high and low culture as well as the color line that bifurcated American society. Examining the work of Ernest Hemingway, Dashiell Hammett, Chester Himes and William Faulkner as well as many lesser known writers for the hypermasculine pulp magazines of the 1920s and 1930s, Breu illustrates how the tough male was a product of cultural fantasy, one that shored up gender and racial stereotypes as a way of lashing out at the destabilizing effects of capitalism and social transformation. Christopher Breu is assistant professor of English at Illinois State University.

As embodied by Jeff Bridges, the main character of the 1998 Coen brothers film The Big Lebowski is a modern hero who has inspired festivals, burlesque interpretations and even a religion, Dudeism. In time for the fifteenth anniversary of The Big Lebowski, film author and curator Jenny M. Jones tells the full story of the Dude from how the Coen brothers came up with the idea for a modern LA noir to never been told anecdotes about the film's production, its critical and commercial reception and finally how it came to be such an international cult hit Achievers as Lebowsky fans call themselves will discover many hidden truths including why it is that Walter Sobchak John Goodman is so obsessed with Vietnam what makes Theodore Donald Donny Kerabatsos Steve Buscemi so confused all the time how the film defies genre and what unexpected surprise Bridges got during filming of the Gutterballs dream sequence Hint it involved curly wigs and a gurney Interspersed throughout are sidebars interviews with members of the film's cast and crew scene breakdowns guest essays by prominent experts on Lebowsky language music filmmaking techniques and more and hundreds of photographs including many of artwork inspired by the film div
