Blue Rose:

Roses Down Under Dawn Eagle, 2013-10-31 The rose is undoubtedly the most popular garden flower in the world. When settlers came from the Northern Hemisphere to Australia and New Zealand they brought their treasured roses with them. Roses Down Under follows the way roses may have been introduced into both countries where they are not indigenous. In each country enthusiastic gardeners and Rosarians such as Alister Clark and Ron Bell in Australia and Ken Nobbs and Sam McGredy in New Zealand were inspired to develop their own varieties. There is a chapter dealing with the complexities of hybridisation going through the process step by step so the reader can follow in their footsteps. Various rose breeders from both countries, both professional and amateur, are listed together with numerous photographs of their significant varieties. These illustrate the differences as well as the similarities of roses produced in Australia and New Zealand since the days of the first settlers. The Victoria State Rose Garden at Werribee outside Melbourne has been chosen to represent the large number of rose gardens in Australia with many photographs illustrating the diverse collection of roses growing there. In New Zealand the Trevor Griffiths Rose Garden in Timaru was chosen because of the comprehensive nature of roses planted in that very interesting garden. The final chapter asks where roses will be in the future. Will varieties produced in each country be similar or very different? One thing is sure: They will always be for gardeners the Queen of Flowers. The Rose Samuel Bowne Parsons, 1847

Through the Shadows of Forever James Patrick Krach, 2012-08-12 Through the Shadows of Forever is a supernaturally dark commentary on society and the world in which we live. Follow one man's horrifying journey to survive in a world he chooses to live apart from. Follow another man's twisted journey through madness as he searches for the answers to his own life forgotten. Watch as the two collide in an enlightenment of insanity. Welcome to the shadows.

Green Light George Gessert, 2012-02-10 How human aesthetic perceptions have shaped other life forms from racehorses to ornamental plants. Humans have bred plants and animals with an eye to aesthetics for centuries. Flowers are selected for colorful blossoms or luxuriant foliage. Racehorses are prized for the elegance of their frames. Hybridized plants were first exhibited as fine art in 1936 when the Museum of Modern Art in New York showed Edward Steichen's hybrid delphiniums. Since then bio art has become a genre. Artists work with a variety of living things including plants, animals, bacteria, slime, molds, and fungi. Many commentators have addressed the social and political concerns raised by making art out of living material. In Green Light however, George Gessert examines the role that aesthetic perception has played in bio art and other interventions in evolution. Gessert looks at a variety of life forms that humans have helped shape, focusing on plants, the most widely domesticated form of life, and the one that has been crucial to his own work as an artist. We learn about pleasure gardens of the Aztecs cultivated for intoxicating fragrance, the aesthetic standards promoted by national plant societies, a daffodil that looks like a rose, and praise for weeds and wildflowers.
