Deaths Other Kingdom:

Death's Other Kingdom Gamel Woolsey, 1929 The Living from the Dead Stuart J. Murray, 2022-09-20 In a society that aims above all to safeguard life how might we reckon with ethical responsibility when we are complicit in sacrificial economies that produce and tolerate death as a necessity of life Arguing that biopower can be fully exposed only through an analysis of those whom society has let die Stuart J Murray employs a series of transdisciplinary case studies to uncover the structural and rhetorical conditions through which biopower works These case studies include the concept of sacrifice in the war against COVID 19 where emergent cultures of pandemic resistance are explored alongside suicide bombings and military suicides the California mass hunger strikes of 2013 legal cases involving preventable and untimely childhood deaths exposing the irreconcilable claims of anti vaxxers and Indigenous peoples and the videorecording of the death of a disabled Black man Murray demonstrates that active resistance to biopower inevitably reproduces tropes of making live and letting die His counter to this fact is a critical stance of disaffirmation one in which death disrupts the politics of life itself A philosophically nuanced critique of biopower The Living from the Dead is a meditation on life death power language and control in the twenty first century It will appeal to students and scholars of rhetoric philosophy and critical theory After the Peace Robert L. Rothstein, 1999 After the Peace examines peace agreements made in the period after the Cold War and ways in which these agreements might be strengthened Six studies are included that explore three major conflicts from a number of perspectives Death's Other Kingdom Sharlene Naidoo, 2013 Whitman and Nietzsche C. N. Stavrou, 2020-05-01 This volume will be a great aid to students and scholars alike in American literature American thought the history of ideas and comparative literature Stavrou draws from the entire bodies of work by Whitman and Nietzsche to explore the parallels in the authors conceptions of paradox the totality of life and solitude among other themes in this exploration of the underlying philosophical similarities of these two great writers of the nineteenth century Annual Report of the Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages in England, 1877 Interdisciplinary/Multidisciplinary Woolf Ann Martin, Kathryn Holland, 2013-06-01 Edited collection from acclaimed contemporary Woolf scholars linking inter and multidisciplinary scholarship to the intellectual and creative projects of Virginia Woolf and her modernist peers Woe Unto Death Fred Agbeyegbe, 2012-07 In Woe Unto Death Fred Agbeyegbe author of The King Must Dance Naked dramatises the plight of a Queen whose husband the King has lain prostrate to an unknown illness for years neither dying nor healing The heroine Queen emerges in her hour of glory determined to keep her husband alive She seeks Death at a graveyard to terminate Death's own life before Death can lay his icy hands on the King The author deploys the illness of the King with his many wives and children waiting for his survival or demise to demonstrate how in an age of greed haste and disrespect one subject can be the object of many conflicting desires Woe Unto Death journeys beyond the mundane into the metaphysical zones of the relationship between life and death between death old age illness and accident and the function of each in the complex life of ignorant humans at the mercy of unknown ravages of nature dependent only on the meaningless suppositions of their oracle and fumbling priests About the Author Fred Agbeyegbe is an admiralty legal practitioner in Lagos Nigeria He is also Nigeria's first playwright the subject of a Theatre Arts Professor's Inaugural Lecture and the first Nigerian playwright to be honored by peers and theatre practitioners as The Grand Living Legend of Nigerian Theatre He wrote this book as one of those escapades of a mind that ponders the complex relationship between God's desires for man and God's agents for achieving his purposes including the actual purpose of death Publisher's Website <http://sbpra.com> FredAgbeyegbe Stephen R. Donaldson and the Modern Epic Vision Christine Barkley, 2014-01-10 This critical study analyzes Stephen R Donaldson's role as a modern writer who uses the fantasy genre to discuss situations and predicaments germane to the modern world Donaldson reclaims an epic vision in his Thomas Covenant novels that is lacking in most modern literature Chapters demonstrate how this use of epic heroism helps solve seemingly insurmountable problems and provides more meaning and purpose for individuals As Donaldson's characters learn to transcend their world the reader is engaged in a serious enlightened discussion about the need for imagination responsibility and acceptance to resolve such problems as alienation pollution disease and despair

The Black Death, 2013-01-01 This series provides texts central to medieval studies courses and focuses upon the diverse cultural social and political conditions that affected the functioning of all levels of medieval society Translations are accompanied by introductory and explanatory material and each volume includes a comprehensive guide to the sources interpretation including discussion of critical linguistic problems and an assessment of recent research on the topics covered From 1348 to 1350 Europe was devastated by an epidemic that left between a third and one half of the population dead This source book traces through contemporary writings the calamitous impact of the Black Death in Europe with a particular emphasis on its spread across England from 1348 to 1349 Rosemary Horrox surveys contemporary attempts to explain the plague which was universally regarded as an expression of divine vengeance for the sins of humankind Moralists all had their particular targets for criticism However this emphasis on divine chastisement did not preclude attempts to explain the plague in medical or scientific terms Also there was a widespread belief that human agencies had been involved and such scapegoats as foreigners the poor and Jews were all accused of poisoning wells The final section of the book charts the social and psychological impact of the plague and its effect on the late medieval economy Biographia Evangelica Or, An Historical Account Of The Lives And Deaths Of the Most Eminent and Evangelical Authors, Or Preachers, Both British And Foreign, In The Several Denominations Of Protestants, From the Beginning of the Reformation, to the Present Time Erasmus Middleton,1780 Reimagining Europe Christian Raffensperger,2012-03-12 An overriding assumption has directed scholarship in both European and Slavic history that Kievan Rus was part of a Byzantine commonwealth separate from Europe Raffensperger refutes this and offers a new frame for two hundred years of history in which Rus is understood as part of medieval Europe and East is not so neatly divided from West Occasional Papers Patrick Francis Moran,1890 The Lancet ,1863 From Bethlehem to Calvary Alice A. Bailey,2012-08-01 The life experience of the Master Jesus including the Crucifixion the Great Renunciation is reflected in the life experience of all human beings We can know and consciously co operate in the journey which leads from the place of spiritual birth to the place of renunciation and resurrection

contemporary discussion on the book's historical background its literary intentions and characteristics and on themes and motifs central to its understanding both of itself and of the world from which it arose This volume functions as a meta commentary offering windows into the secondary literature but assembling data more fully than is the case in individual commentaries

Mary Queen of Scots 1542-1587 also known as Mary Stuart or Mary I of Scotland reigned over Scotland from 14 December 1542 to 24 July 1567 Mary the only surviving legitimate child of James V of Scotland was six days old when her father died and she acceded to the throne She spent most of her childhood in France while Scotland was ruled by regents and in 1558 she married the Dauphin of France Francis He ascended the French throne as King Francis II in 1559 and Mary briefly became queen consort of France until his death in December 1560 Widowed Mary returned to Scotland arriving in Leith on 19 August 1561 Four years later she married her first cousin Henry Stuart Lord Darnley but their union was unhappy In February 1567 his residence was destroyed by an explosion and Darnley was found murdered in the garden James Hepburn 4th Earl of Bothwell was generally believed to have orchestrated Darnley's death but he was acquitted of the charge in April 1567 and the following month he married Mary Following an uprising against the couple Mary was imprisoned in Lochleven Castle On 24 July 1567 she was forced to abdicate in favour of James VI her one year old son by Darnley After an unsuccessful attempt to regain the throne she fled southwards seeking the protection of her first cousin once removed Queen Elizabeth I of England Mary had previously claimed Elizabeth's throne as her own and was considered the legitimate sovereign of England by many English Catholics including participants in a rebellion known as the Rising of the North Perceiving her as a threat Elizabeth had her confined in various castles and manor houses in the interior of England After eighteen and a half years in custody Mary was found guilty of plotting to assassinate Elizabeth in 1586 and was beheaded the following year The story has all the emotional savor of a crime passionnel it is adroitly worked up to a climax of violence and calamity and it subsides as skillfully to an end of tragic pity With his talent for simple exposition on a large scale his sense of drama his ready flow of emotion his inventiveness in detail of the moments of his character's life his resources of metaphor parallel and illustration and his rich psychological adornment of human life Herr Zweig has no difficulty in reducing his material into its essential drama whatever Mary's story and we shall never know Zweig's book has every right to be set down as one of the most brilliant guesses at the truth and it is an amazing piece of virtuosity to plunge her into the blackest of guilt and then restore her to our sympathy and pity Peter Munro Jack The New York Times Mr Zweig is not a historian but a litterateur practising biography as a branch of letters The distinction is not derogatory It is the clue to the strength and weakness of the book The litterateur borrows from the craft and exercises some of the liberty of the novelist He is interested in character and psychology and indulges in imaginative reconstruction more freely than the historian who is forever haunted by the words We do not know Zweig makes a real person of Mary a convincing portrait and there is sympathetic understanding even when he is presenting her as the accomplice of her lover Bothwell in the murder of Darnley Needless to say the style is remarkably easy and readable Criticism would be unjust to the brilliant qualities of Mr Zweig s book and though I hope that all he says will not be taken for gospel truth I am certain of the pleasure he will give to his readers There are many descriptive passages to be scored and many sentences that one would give a great deal to have written The whole book goes with the swing of a novel The translation is beyond praise J E Neale The Saturday Review
