Hart,2009-04-21 If I am asked in the framework of Book 1 Who are you I in answering might say I don't know who in the world I am Nevertheless there is a sense in which I always know what I refers to and can never not know even if I have become e.g. amnesiac Yet in Book 2 Who are you has other senses of oneself in mind than the non-sortal myself For example it might be the pragmatic context as in a bureaucratic setting but Who are you or Who am I might be more anguished and be rendered by What sort of person are you or What sort am I Such a question often surfaces in the face of a limit situation such as one's death or in the wake of a shameful deed where we are compelled to find our centers what we also will call Existenz Existenz here refers to the center of the person In the face of the limit situation one is called upon to act unconditionally in the determination of oneself and one's being in the world In this Book 2 we discuss chiefly one's normative personal moral identity which stands in contrast to the transcendental I where one's non-sortal unique identity is given from the start This moral identity requires a unique self-determination and normative self-constitution which may be thought of with the help of the metaphor of vocation We will see that it has especial ties to one's Existenz as well as to love This Book 2 claims that the moral personal ideal sense of who one is is linked to the transcendental who through a notion of entelechy The person strives to embody the I-ness that one both ineluctably is and which however points to who one is not yet and who one ought to be The final two chapters tell a philosophical theological likely story of a basic theme of Plotinus We must learn to honor ourselves because of our honorable kinship and lineage Yonder The Prince of Death J.
