Dealing Fairly with Developing Country Debt Christian Barry, Lydia Tomitova, Barry Herman, 2007 The recent economic collapse in Argentina and financial crisis in Turkey and the persistent unsustainable debt burdens of many developing countries highlight the practically urgent problem of excessive indebtedness High debt levels can limit a sovereign government's capacity to provide social services necessary for the well being of its citizens and divert resources and energy from the pursuit of long term development strategies In this book philosophers theologians lawyers and economists examine questions related to how to deal fairly with the over indebted governments of developing countries These questions include How do you balance obligations to repay a debt with potentially worsening poverty in the debtor country Should creditors be held accountable and if so how for loans to governments that are not even minimally representative of their people's interests Are there reforms to the practices governing sovereign borrowing and lending to sovereigns that would increase fairness in how the world treats developing countries with debt difficulties

The Church and Development in Africa, Second Edition Stan Chu Ilo, 2014-10-20 In this book Stan Chu Ilo offers an integral theology of development and a critical social analysis of different development theories and practices in the world especially in Africa Ilo offers a comprehensive biblical anthropological and theological foundation of the principles and praxis of Catholic social ethics from the Second Vatican Council to Pope Francis Drawing from the social encyclical Charity in Truth Ilo shows how Catholic social teaching responds to some of the challenging questions and concerns of our times in relation to human rights ecology globalization international cooperation development and aid human and cultural development business ethics social justice and the challenges of poverty eradication He creatively applies these principles to the social context of Africa and lays a groundwork for sustainable Christian humanitarian and social justice initiatives in Africa

A Game As Old As Empire, Exodus From Empire Terrence E. Paupp, 2006-11-20. This book lays out a comprehensive vision for a new world order based on cooperation between the developing world and leading Left countries in Latin America. Arguing that the ravages of corporate capitalism are unsustainable, Terrence E. Paupp presents an energetic critique of the problems of empire and looks ahead to a global countermovement against the IMF and US hegemony. Leading the Life

You Want Stewart D. Friedman, 2014. Must professional accomplishments come at the expense of having a full life? Not according to Wharton professor and leadership and work-life expert Stewart D. Friedman. In his new book, Friedman identifies critical skills for leading an authentic and balanced life and illustrates them through the compelling stories of six remarkable high-profile people. He also shows how to develop and apply each skill through a series of exercises anyone can use. Each leader showcased in the book: Bruce Springsteen, Michelle Obama, Sheryl Sandberg, Tom Tierney, Eric Greifens, and Julie Foudy exemplifies a specific set of skills for achieving greater harmony between work and life. Friedman identifies these discrete skills for being real, being whole, and being innovative that reduce conflict. Then, based on in-depth interviews and research, he paints a dramatic picture of the creative ways these six very different leaders pursue authenticity and harmony every day. Friedman also includes exercises for practicing each skill along with actionable ideas curated from research in organizational psychology and related fields for applying them. This book will inspire and reinforce the changes people want to make to lead more balanced lives and to become better leaders. The Face of Africa

Stan Chu Ilo, 2012-12-01. This book is a call on Africans and non-Africans to once more believe in the possibility of a better future for Africa. In these pages, Stan Chu Ilo writes of his experience and the experiences of many young Africans like himself who are disturbed by the present condition of Africa. He writes about the challenges facing most Africans who are growing up in the African continent without any hope of quality education, without any guarantee of adequate food, water, housing, and clothing, without any hope of getting a job, and without any prospect of living in peace with their neighbors. He writes of the sad situation of millions of young Africans who are dying of malaria and HIV/AIDS and the African women whose fate and fortune have been shackled by a male-dominated society. He questions the bases of the existence of the failed states of Africa who are caught up in a cycle of violence and disorder and who are not asking the right questions about the future of their nations. He argues that corruption, excessive authoritarianism, a stubborn hold on power, and lack of openness to consensus building among some African leaders insult the cultural value of Africans with regard to a sense of community, love, and solidarity. He also writes of the pain of globalization, the debt burden, immigration, and trade restrictions on Africans and African countries, exploitation of ordinary Africans by fellow Africans and Western governments, and business conglomerates. He wonders why many Western nations should turn their backs on Africa when they all share some responsibility in bringing Africa to her knees. However, even though many Africans have become exhausted in the battle for national survival and for a living space to pursue their ordered ends, this book proposes that Africans should not claim perpetual victimhood; rather, they should stand up once more and work for a better tomorrow which is possible and within their reach. Ilo insists that the imposing mountains of economic and social ruin, the rising moans and groans of numberless Africans, should not weaken the inner energy and ardent hopes of millions of Africans struggling against the untested assumption that the cracking social, political, and economic foundations of present-day Africa are incapable of supporting the structures of a new Africa. The face of Africa today is ugly, but behind the ugly face is the beauty that has been distorted by historical and cultural factors. The present condition of Africa is only the sign of the urgent need for the peoples of Africa to brace up for the long and hard journey to reclaim their future. Ilo outlines how non-Africans who are interested in the African condition can be involved with the peoples of Africa. A proper understanding of the African continent and her peoples, her history and cultural evolution is a necessary first step for those who wish to be engaged with the Africans. His total picture approach models as the key to interpreting the African condition and in comprehensively addressing the challenges facing Africa, offers a helpful and original tool in understanding Africa. It helps to overcome the stereotypes, prejudices, and paternalism which non-Africans apply in their reading of African history and their relation with the African reality. With masterly skills, a keen sense of history, a balanced perspective, and objectivity, Ilo identifies the constraints to growth and innovation in Africa in terms of the low stocks in the human capital and cultural development. He introduces a new concept in the interpretation of the African condition: homelessness in terms of cultural and existential crises that confront Africans today. His conclusion is that cultural and human development is the irreducible decimal in any proposal for the transformation of the continent; that grassroots, village-based action should be preferred over bogus and unworkable national approaches to African development.

A game as old as empire [electronic resource] Steven Hiatt, 2007. Exposes the secrets of a worldwide web of control, corruption, and plunder. This book tells how bigger powers operate to enrich small elite and corporate coffers while often impoverishing masses of people and creating debt and dependency that economically enslave countries for generations.
